Objects to Engineer Picked for Quiz.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., July 17.—[Special.]—A protest from Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, deposed chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, has been lodged with the congressional investigating committee against the appointment of Thomas A. Panter of Los Angeles as chief engineer for the committee.

Thomas Panter.

In a letter to the committee, written after Panter's appointment and disclosed tonight, Dr. Morgan said one of his critics has been E. F. Scattergood, general manager of the Los Angeles Municipal Power System, who is Panter's chief in Los Angeles.

Doubts Impartiality.

Morgan raised the question of whether this might be prejudicial to an impartial inquiry into the TVA yardstick for measuring fair rates for electricity, one of the basic questions to be investigated.

Neither Dr. Morgan nor Senator Vic Donahey [D., O.], chairman of the investigators, would give out copies of the letter of protest. Chairman Donahey indicated it might be acted on at a closed session of the committee tomorrow.

News of the Morgan protest was divulged as the committee prepared to start its hearings tomorrow afternoon. Dr. Arthur Morgan is on the tentative program to go on the stand.

The first week is expected to be devoted to testimony from Dr. Morgan and Directors Harcourt A. Morgan and David E. Lilienthal, charged by Dr. Morgan with engaging TVA in a policy of misrepresentation, mismanagement, and deceit.

Committee Course in Doubt.

Arrangements for the initial hearings were made by Francis Biddle, chief counsel for the committee, after conferences with both sides. As it stands tentatively, Harcourt Morgan, acting chairman, is to make a brief statement in the afternoon session, to be followed by Dr. Arthur Morgan, who may be on the stand two or three days, according to Chairman Donahey. Director Lilienthal is to follow Dr. Arthur Morgan.

The committee, however, is to map out procedure tomorrow morning, and tonight, after the Morgan protest, uncertainty was expressed as to whether this program would be changed.

The investigation is evoking nationwide interest. It has been a headliner since Arthur Morgan last March insisted that congress should investigate the affairs of TVA, classed as the greatest collectivist experiment of the Roosevelt régime.

Marble Claims Worthless.

The $5,000,000 marble claims of Senator George L. Berry and associates for marble lands submerged by Norris dam reservoir, and whether the board might with propriety seek to conciliate the claims, touched off the controversy. A three man federal commission in March reported the Berry marble commercially worthless and next day Dr. Morgan demanded congress delve into TVA affairs.

Dr. Morgan declared the Berry marbles in 1935 and 1936 were found worthless by eminent geologists, and that over his protests the TVA board made an agreement of conciliation with Berry and associates. Later his former colleagues canceled the agreement and started condemnation of the marble lands, which led to the verdict of commercially valueless.

Dismissed by Roosevelt.

After the White House hearings at which Arthur Morgan declined to submit evidence to support his charges, saying this was a matter for a searching investigation by congress, President Roosevelt dismissed him for "contumacy." Dr. Morgan now has a suit pending challenging the right of the President to oust him and demanding he be recognized as chairman and director.

Arthur Morgan says the TVA yardstick is spurious and deceives the public. Data is being gathered by an engineering staf on this matter, and the technical material, Chairman Donahey says, will take some time

DID THAT GLASS FOOL YOU? IT WAS DIAMONDS

If, in recent weeks, you passed up what looked like glittering fragments of glass in northwest side alleys, this item will interest you. Those fragments were diamonds.

At the Albany Park police station yesterday Stanley Hoffman, 18 years old, 3114 North Monticello avenue, and Eugene Sciborski, 19, of 3736 Diversey avenue, told Policemen William Peters and John Schupolsky about 25 burglaries they had committed. They took only money and gold jewelry. They'd sell the gold and spend the money.

Some of the gold jewelry articles were set with diamonds. But Hoffman and Sciborski couldn't get a decent price for the diamonds. So, they said, "We just chipped the diamonds out in the alleys near where we stole them. We didn't bother to pick 'em up."

GEORGIA CUTS SHACKLES OFF ITS CONVICTS

Abolishes Notorious Chain Gang.

Atlanta, Ga., July 17.—[Special.]—Prison reform recommended to Gov. E. D. Rivers last November became a fact today when the last chains had been cut from the ankles of prisoners in the state's 118 prison camps. Hereafter only incorrigibles will be kept behind walls in the new Tattnall state prison.

Gov. E. D. Rivers.

With removal of the chains, for years worn by all prisoners in labor camps, came regulations that prohibit whipping, the use of sweat boxes, and other inhumane forms of punishment.

In the future the prison gangs will be known as public works camps and the convicts will build roads and work on prison farms. Only those who cannot be trusted to work without shackles will be confined. Convicts now in the industrial prison will be sent to the camps when found trustworthy.

Try to Rehabilitate Youths.

Another innovation in the Georgia penal system under the new regulations will be the classification of prisoners. Youths will be separated from the older prisoners and special efforts will be made to rehabilitate them for return to society.

Revision of Georgia's ancient penal system was started a year ago. Money with which to build the new prison was obtained from the PWA. Last September escapes from the chain gangs numbered as many as 100 some days and prison officials sought permission to adopt drastic methods to check the escapes. Wardens issued orders to kill felons found trying to escape, and although the law prohibited whipping, attempts were made to circumvent it.

Criticism of Georgia's chain gangs by Gov. Charles F. Hurley of Massachusetts last fall brought angry retorts from Gov. Rivers. Gov. Hurley refused to permit extradition of a Georgia convict found in his state because of what he termed inhumane treatment of prisoners.

Observe Hurley Day Annually.

Gov. Rivers then paroled a colored prisoner who had served less than a month of a ten month sentence with the provision that he pass the remaining nine months of parole in the state of Massachusetts. Rivers then said scornfully that state prison camps would observe Hurley day annually and the menu for the day would be codfish and baked beans.

Last November the report of a board that had been studying the Georgia penal system was made public. The board recommended modernization of the system and it was these recommendations that became effective today.

Georgia has a state prison population of 7,500, three-fourths of whom are colored. Until 1908 the state leased convicts to private contractors, who were responsible for their retention in custody and keep. The state made a profit of a million dollars annually under the leasing system.

3 Dead, 50 Hurt as Fire Rages in Oil Refinery

Wellsville, N. Y., July 17.—(AP)—Three men were killed, others are feared dead, and fifty slightly injured tonight when an exploding oil tank was hurled 200 feet across the Genesee river and fell into a crowd of spectators watching the fire in the 15 million dollar Sinclair Oil company plant here.

As 400 firemen from twenty cities battled desperately against the roaring flames within the plant, workmen began cutting apart the tank in an effort to discover if there were other victims. After several hours firemen brought the flames under some semblance of control.

Witnesses said the tank resembled a mammoth ball of fire as it arched over the narrow river and plunged to the ground.

Molten Mass Perils 100.

Two of the dead were identified. They were Robert Powers, 35 years old, and Jean McCormick, 42. They were in a group of at least 100 persons watching the blaze, in which twelve oil and naphtha tanks exploded, and fourteen steel and cork filling towers and a dewaxing plant were destroyed.

Thousands of yards of sandbag and dirt dikes were thrown up in a wide circle around the blazing area in the forty acre plant to halt the flow of burning oils.

Fire Cuts Off Steam Power.

Firemen from towns as far as 35 miles away directed hoselines against the inferno, pumping water from the Genesee river because the plant's water system was wrecked.

The fighters were handicapped, too, because the fire, when it struck the dewaxing plant, almost immediately destroyed the steam lines designed as emergency extinguishers, and wrecked the power lines.

The village of Wellsville itself was in no danger from the flames, witnesses said. The plant is situated some distance from the edge of town. The 500 employés of the plant fled to safety as the storage tanks started to blow up.

National Guard Takes Over Penitentiary in Arizona

Florence, Ariz., July 17.—(AP)—Troopers of the Arizona National Guard marched into the state penitentiary here today while convicts cheered, and placed the badly overcrowded institution under military control. The 55 guardsmen took over upon orders from Gov. R. C. Stanford after 18 convicts escaped in little more than a month.

FLYER OVER ATLANTIC IN A 1929 PLANE, HIS OBJECTIVE A MYSTERY

New York, July 17.—(AP)—An unpredictable airman from California, Douglas P. Corrigan, 31 years old, announced at Floyd Bennett field today he was taking off nonstop for Long Beach, Cal., and then soared away headed east, a move that aroused considerable speculation. He carried fuel for forty hours' flight, which might get him across the Atlantic.

He was piloting a dilapidated monoplane of 1929 vintage, similar to Charles A. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," which was capable of a trans-Atlantic crossing when it was new—in 1927. He landed the ship at Floyd Bennett last Sunday after flying nonstop from Long Beach in about twenty-eight hours.

Airfield attendants waited to see Corrigan turn back toward the west after he took off, but he disappeared into a murky eastern sky. Whether he turned back after he was out of sight of the field was not known.

Five Drift 30 Hours in Lake Yacht; Saved

An all day search by yachts and airplanes for five persons missing thirty hours aboard the cabin cruiser Queen Olive in Lake Michigan ended last night when the craft, disabled by engine trouble, was found twenty-eight miles east and north of Kenosha, Wis. It was towed into Waukegan harbor early today by coast guard cutter 119.

Those aboard were Samuel Parker Johnston, 505 Waverly road, Highland Park, a wealthy real estate broker; his son, Samuel Jr.; his daughters, Miss Katharine Johnston and Mrs. Ruth Hair, and the latter's husband, Benjamin Morton Hair. Mr. and Mrs. Hair live at 4567 Woodlawn avenue.

Have Thrilling Experience.

Their experiences were rather harrowing at times. They drifted helplessly from Saturday morning to last night. A sudden morning storm yesterday buffeted their cruiser dangerously for more than an hour. Freighters passed too far away to see their distress signals in daylight. Their night flares went unnoticed. That they escaped a second full night in the open lake was due to the work of the new radio station WAY, near Lake Bluff. This station is privately maintained for lake safety.

The Queen Olive, 32 feet long, and luxuriously outfitted, left Waukegan at 9 o'clock Saturday morning for Spring Lake, Mich. It was due there at 8 o'clock Saturday night. Engine trouble developed two hours out. From then until the rescue, the Johnstons and the Hairs sighted no other craft.

Appeals for Help.

Yesterday, after the party had been missing overnight, Mrs. Johnston appealed to station WAY for help. She also chartered a seaplane from Milwaukee, Wis., to soar over the lake. Lewis B. Gilmer, in charge of the station, which is owned by Thorne Donnelley, vice president of the Reuben H. Donnelley corporation, promptly put an appeal for help on the air. He asked all radio equipped boats to search for the Queen Olive. Planes from the Penn-Central Air Lines, Milwaukee, also aided the search.

Among the yachts in the hunt were Commander Eugene McDonald's Mizpah, John Simpson's Awab, Mr. Donnelley's Mako, and Wesley Atlas' Harriet. The coast guard cutters Rush and 119 also aided. The 119 and the Harriet, acting in coöperation with the station WAY finally found the Queen Olive. The Harriet, which first found the cruiser, took Mr. and Mrs. Hair off and into Belmont harbor. They telephoned Mrs. Johnston of the rescue.

A fast trigger gunman last night stalked a victim in Wellington avenue at Halsted street and killed him with five bullets. The executioner possessed the precise style of old time gangland killers.

The victim was John O'Brien, 25 years old, a minor figure in near north side gay spots. He was married and lived with his wife, Jacqueline, and infant daughter, Patricia, at 1148 North Campbell avenue. He managed the tavern at 501 Rush street the license for which is in the name of his cousin, George Cashman.

Police Find Mystery.

O'Brien's murder gave police a complete mystery. He had no record. His activities, whatever they were, are unknown to police. Some gangland racket must have prompted his murder, in the opinion of Capt. Thomas J. Duffy of the Sheffield avenue station.

A love rival motive was also possible, he added, and in this connection police are seeking for questioning a comely brunette with whom O'Brien had been friendly. The killers, however, did not act on a sudden impulse. Just a week ago last night three men with guns invaded the Rush street tavern looking for him.

O'Brien was slain in front of 747 Wellington avenue. He had been waiting there two hours. Then death came suddenly to him. He was reading a magazine when a small sedan drew up. One man jumped out. He carried a pistol in his right hand.

He loped, rather than ran, diagonally across the street. Cars parked at the curb hid him from O'Brien's view. He swiftly cut in between two parked cars. Then he jumped in front of O'Brien.

All Over in an Instant.

Nothing was said. O'Brien, startled by the deadly apparition in front of him, leaped back. In that instant the killer brought up his pistol. He fired five or six shots so rapidly they could not be counted. The first shot hit O'Brien in the right shoulder, the second in the center of the chest. He instinctively raised his left hand in protection. A bullet tore through the hand. Another went through the right arm, and the final one through his head.

O'Brien slumped to the sidewalk and rolled over. The gunman darted again through the opening between the cars and ran to the waiting sedan. His partner, at the wheel, drove him at high speed north in Halsted. Only two or perhaps three persons saw the killing. One was William O. Rayborn, whose address is being withheld by police.

Describes Action at Scene.

"I saw the sedan parked and two men in it," he told police. "I saw a man get out with a gun in his hand and run across the street. Then he began firing. He was back in his car and going north in no time. I tried to get the car's license number, but it didn't bear any license plate."

Search of O'Brien's pockets yielded only 76 cents, a bankbook in his name with a deposit of $1, and a check made out to Cashman, and countersigned to O'Brien, presumably as salary. This check carried the tavern address. Squads went there and found Wesley Morris, a handyman.

Morris identified O'Brien's body. He told police that a week ago last night three gunmen invaded the tavern. They announced they were robbers, but after looking around left without attempting robbery. O'Brien was in a backroom at the time and police believe the men were looking for him.

SHOT DOWN IN STREET

The Town Hall police were holding three men early today for questioning about the wounding of Edward Tager, 34 years old, a rug salesman. Tager was shot under the heart by an unidentified assailant last night in front of the Chelsea hotel, 920 Wilson avenue, where he lived.

Edward Rothman, 5020 Winthrop avenue, one of the three held, was captured by two young men who told police they had seen him run from the vicinity of the hotel with a pistol. The weapon was found later in an alley nearby. Rothman, however, denied the shooting and Tager said he was not the gunman. Christina Lund, 11 years old, 856 Wilson avenue, identified Rothman as the man she saw running down the alley.

Rothman's brother, Samuel, of 5012 Winthrop avenue, and Harry Schwartz of the Chelsea hotel are the others held. The Rothmans admitted they had quarreled with Schwartz and Tager over alleged nonpayment for merchandise. All three men are in the rug business. Tager is in the Lakeview hospital.

70,000 THRILLED BY POLICE AND FIRE SPECTACLE

Awed by Daredevil Feats in Big Show.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

An enthusiastic Chicago witnessed the Police and Fire Thrill show in Soldiers' field yesterday. This enthusiasm, backed by paid admissions, assured the presentation of the great spectacle again next year.

Beneath darkening skies that threatened to drench them at any minute, 70,000 persons filled the giant horseshoe and overflowed into extra seats backstage which the management had not planned to use.

The throng was deeply moved as one after another of the forces of protection that move behind the scenes of the city's daily life were unfolded. When the announcer asked the crowd midpoint in the program if they would come back next year there was a prolonged roar of assent that filled the great arena.

Cheering Virtually Continuous.

The crowds were still filing in when martial music heralded the start of the grand parade shortly after 2 p. m. A temporary lightening of the clouds about 1:40 had brought out many who had intended to stay at home.

From the moment that the drum and bugle corps of the park district police marched in at the head of the parade there was continual cheering.

In the line of march were 1,000 men of the fire and police departments and the park district, which, with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, sponsored the show. And there were sixty-three great machines—the weapons that protect the city against crime and fire.

Riding with Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan at the head of the firemen was Sigurd Nerdrum of West Milwaukee and Mrs. Nerdrum. He is the last survivor of the ill-fated fire company that lost seventeen men in the tragic cold storage warehouse holocaust at the World's Fair of 1893.

Hand-Drawn Pumpers a Novelty.

Two old time, hand-drawn pumpers of 1837 and 1845 brought down the house. These were pulled by red shirted firemen who tramped jauntily along just as did those dudish volunteer companies who manned these wagons so long ago.

Chicago's retired firemen, who marched just ahead of the city's great modern fire fighting apparatus, were cheered heartily all along the line. Then, after they had passed, the giant pumpers, ponderous water towers, and aerial ladder units received probably the closest inspection they have ever had.

As each came into view the announcer explained its purpose; just what it does to save life and property. This, incidentally, was one of the purposes of yesterday's spectacle—to give Chicagoans an opportunity of seeing and knowing better their fire and police departments.

Spectacle Alive with Color.

To make room for all the fire apparatus, the military drill contingents and the marching units left the parade and assembled on the green field. This great expanse was ringed with the red, brass and gold of fire engines. The field itself was dotted with the white, blue, and red uniforms of the marchers and drum corps.

That was the setting as Mayor Kelly stepped to the microphone at the north end of the arena to pay a stirring tribute to the fearless men who protect the city night and day. Many in the crowd learned for the first time that the mayor's father, Stephen Kelly, had been a fireman.

Mayor Kelly said: "The great public is inclined to forget this great work that is done for them. They might say of the fireman or policeman, 'Well, he was paid for doing that.' But there is not sufficient money in the world to pay for the life of any man. And when men do hazardous work regardless of pay, they should at least get the respect and applause due them during their lifetimes."

Remember Departed Heroes.

When the mayor had spoken Commissioner Corrigan, Commissioner James P. Aliman of the police department, and Chief Michael C. Hayes of the Park district police made brief talks. Then came a tribute to Chicago's policemen and firemen who have lost their lives in line of duty.

A uniformed man from each department raised the flag high above the fire tower and lowered it to half staf.

Taps was sounded while the massed thousands stood with bowed heads. The Stars and Stripes rose again to full staf and Miss Kathryn Witwer, star soprano of station W-G-N, sang the national anthem.

When the music had died away the field became a multicolored moving pattern of marching men. After twelve minutes the fire and police contingents left the field and the famous drum and bugle corps of Police post, No. 207, of the American Legion won cheers with its drills.

Daring Riders Eclipse Rodeos.

Then came the action. The white jacketed trick riders of the Chicago motorcycle police sped their machines around the cinder track. No rodeo ever saw more daring riding—and this was more difficult than riding a horse.

The final exhibition drew thunderous applause. Thirteen men pyramided on three motorcycles circled the arena, the legs and arms of the men extended into space. This was the perilous three wheel fan.

Now the announcer ordered every one off the cinder track and thousands of small boys cheered at the tops of their voices. Here was one of the things they were waiting to see.

Smoke was curling from the top of the fire tower at the north end of the field. Through the amplifiers came the harsh jangle of a bell, followed by the hoarse screech of a siren. Heavy motors roared into life in the red fire stations beside the smoking tower. Red lights flashed.

Trucks Race Around Arena.

The upper front windows of the fire stations popped open and out came the firemen, tumbling down brass poles and grabbing the thundering trucks as they plunged out onto the field. Around the arena they went.

The earth shaking rumble of the fire engines, the shrieking of sirens and clanging of bells mingled with the applause of 70,000 Chicagoans, who for the moment were wild eyed fire fans.

By the time the apparatus reassembled at the tower, the smoke was rolling densely into the sky. Like great arms the aerial ladders reared themselves up and men carrying hose lines over their shoulders started climbing them. Two big sedan pumpers pulled away to hydrants at the side of the field.

Streams Quickly Subdue Fire.

It seemed that the instant the hose lines were attached streams of water were spraying into the air. The smoke thinned and died out.

Following quickly upon this alarm came another. The trucks of the Chicago Fire Insurance patrol dashed from the fire stations and the patrol demonstrated how it saves and salvages goods during fires. This organization, under the direction of Chief Frank C. McAuliffe, saves fire insurance companies thousands of dollars each year.

After this event the crowd saw some of the high, tricky work with pompier ladders. These short, pole-like affairs look like the backbone of a fish. They have hooks on the tops and are hung from window sills. Up go the firemen to the second floor. They straddle the sills and hang their ladders in the third floor window. Up again. And so to the top. Following these drills came the life line sliding—aerial rescue work.

Mounted Police Display Prowess.

Then Chicagoans who doubt that the mounted police can really ride—if any do doubt it—found they are mistaken. In beautiful formation the mounted men moved across the field. They showed speed, too—plenty of it, and won prolonged applause.

The radio chase and bandit fight was next. From the south gate emerged nine of the park district's new two way radio cars and three armored squad cars of the Chicago detective bureau.

Around the field they rolled, while their mysteries were explained. Then, as the last one left the arena the crime drama began. First came the call for the police from a druggist who had been robbed.

The police operator called his cars. They answered.

Presently they sighted the fleeing robbers and the chase was on down the outer drive from Foster avenue. The crowd kept track of it through the reports from the squad cars and the voice of the police operator, plainly heard through the amplifiers.

The radio net tightened. The bandits were driven toward Soldiers' field. Sirens were heard outside and the bandit car lurched in. It went around the track while pistol fire spurted from it and the two park cars behind. New sirens now—and more shots. The detective bureau cars roared in.

The bandits skidded their car to a stop and fled into the base of the fire tower. The police cars drew up in a circle and the gunfire became deafening. The heavy boom of shotguns punctuated the pistol fire.

A detective advanced behind a shield and tossed bomb after bomb of tear gas into the building. The police rushed the building and shots roared within. Then quiet.

A stretcher from the park squad cars which are convertible ambulances was carried in and a very dead looking bandit was carried out.

Then came another spectacular fire alarm response. There were leaps for life into nets and the rescue of smoke victims. The tower really was smoking this time. The loudest cheers for any inanimate object went to the big water tower when its twin streams began battering the smoking structure.

Coast Guards Rescue Thrilling.

Men of the United States coast guard demonstrated a rescue with breeches buoy from the top of the tower. The coast guard coöperates with the fire department in time of peril.

The water fight by four teams ended a thrilling afternoon. Picked hosemen, directing high pressure streams, drove metal balls suspended on wires, toward opposite goals.

No audit of the day's receipts had been made last night, but it was estimated that a substantial profit had been made. Paid admissions were in the ratio of two children to one adult. Adults paid 25 cents and children 10 cents. Whatever profit is realized will be used next year toward providing a free show.

Despite the size of the crowd and the dangerous feats performed on the field, there were no accidents either to members of the audience or the men who gave the show.

The first annual police and fire thrill show was a gratifying success.

Father of Mayor

The late Stephen Kelly, father of Mayor Edward J. Kelly, whose career as a fireman was recalled by the son in speech at Police and Fire Thrill show yesterday.

INSULL BURIAL DELAYED; FRENCH START INQUIRY

Son Unable to Be Present at London Funeral.

Samuel Insull Jr. talked to his mother over trans-Atlantic telephone yesterday and then announced that funeral arrangements for his father, who died suddenly of heart disease in Paris on Saturday, had not yet been completed.

French laws and customs were delaying the removal to England of the body of the former Chicagoan who ruled an empire of utility companies and investment concerns until the disastrous crash of 1932.

Burial Beside Parents.

"My mother said she had word that Douglas Macintosh, my cousin by marriage, would be there to aid her tomorrow morning," said the son, who is now an assistant to James Simpson, successor to the elder Insull as chairman of the board of the Commonwealth Edison company.

"He is our nearest relative in Europe. Burial will be in Putney Vale cemetery on the outskirts of London. My father's father and mother are buried there."

Young Insull spent the day at his home in Geneva. He said he could not go to the funeral, and he expected his mother to return to Chicago after it is over. He said he had received many messages of condolence, but did not wish to make them public as they were of a personal nature.

Consider Autopsy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

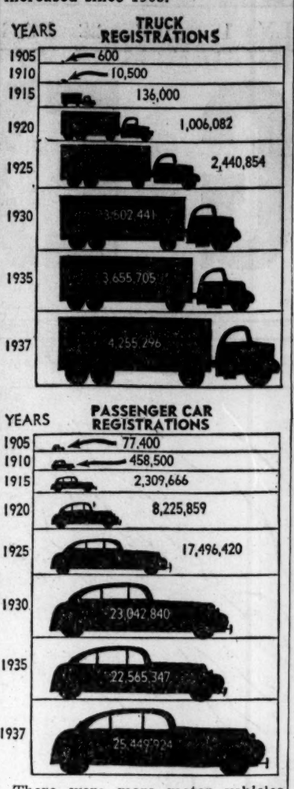
PARIS, July 17.—Police continued to withhold a burial permit for Samuel Insull today and one source said a decision was awaited whether an autopsy would be necessary.

The coroner's office was closed over the week-end, but it was expected that the coroner's report on the death of Insull, who collapsed in a Paris subway station yesterday after a heart attack, will be issued tomorrow. It was believed the burial permit would be granted at the same time.

Meanwhile, the body of the 78 year old former millionaire was in the morgue at Marmottan hospital. As soon as the burial permit is issued, the body will be taken to London. Mrs. Insull remained secluded in her hotel, but it was learned that she is bearing up well.

Advance of Motors

How automobile and truck registrations in the United States have increased since 1905.



There were more motor vehicles registered in the United States at the close of last year than at any other time in the nation's history, according to statistics made public yesterday by the Chicago Motor club. The total registration was 29,705,220. Of these 25,449,924 were pasesnger cars and 4,255,296 trucks. Illinois registration totaled 1,768,946, an increase of 6.6 per cent over the preceding year.

Japs Used Poison Gas in River Drive, Briton Asserts

HANKOW, China, July 17.—Dr. H. Balbot, British volunteer surgeon who has been treating Chinese wounded in the Methodist Mission hospital in Nanchang, said on his arrival in Hankow today that it had been definitely established by post-mortem examinations that the wounds of twenty-four Chinese soldiers brought to Nanchang from Matowchen had been caused by mustard gas.

CANTON FOREIGN COLONY WATCHES JAPS HURL BOMBS

Sees Missils Strike Vital Rail Station.

CANTON, July 17.—(AP)—Residents of Canton's international settlement on Shameen island clearly saw falling bombs today in a Japanese air raid on the Wongsha railroad station.

New foreign consular protests to Japan were expected because the bombing planes power dived directly over Shameen and released their slanting explosives while still flying above the international zone.

Twenty large bombs fell on the station, terminus of the important railroad connecting Canton, gateway of munitions imports, with Hankow, seat of China's government. Casualties were believed to be few, however, as the area around the station has been virtually deserted.

Eighteen planes participated in the raid, circling over the city for 80 minutes before loosing their bombs. The planes also dropped five bombs in the Saichuen district, an industrial section where Canton's waterworks are located.

Chinese Recapture Island.

HONGKONG, July 17.—(AP)—Chinese were reported today to have recaptured Namoa island, off the Kwangtung province treaty port of Swatow, 220 miles northeast of Canton.

The Japanese had occupied Namoa on June 21 in what was considered an attempt to gain a foothold for a long awaited South China offensive to isolate Canton and China's vast south and southwest.

Chinese said five Japanese warships fired a broadside of 100 shells against militiamen and guerrilla forces which, they declared, had repossessed the island. Reinforcements of regular army troops and militiamen were reported being sent to Namoa to strengthen its defenses.

Force Entry Into Lake.

SHANGHAI, July 17.—(AP)—Japanese reported today their army and navy, paced by war planes, were continuing a "crushing offensive" designed to carry the Rising Sun banner into Hankow and Nanchang. They said five armed launches had forced an entry into Lake Poyang, the 1,637 square mile body of water which leads to Nanchang.

The main battle sector was along the Yangtze river between Kiukiang, 135 miles downstream from Hankow and 100 miles north of Nanchang, and Hukow, 15 miles farther down river.

It is here, where Lake Poyang waters enter the Yangtze, that the Japanese are striving to send forces west against Kiukiang for the river drive on China's provisional capital and south against Nanchang to wipe out a main Chinese air base and to drive overland to cut the Canton-Hankow railroad.

Chinese reports asserted the invaders suffered 10,000 casualties in battles in the last two weeks below Kiukiang.

PLANS TO CALL REBEL MEETING OF AUTO UNION

Suspended Aid Insists Men Oppose Martin.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 17.—[Special.]—Ed Hall, a suspended vice president of the United Automobile Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate, today revealed plans to call an insurgent convention of the organization. Hall predicted the convention would show 85 per cent of the membership opposed to the régime of Homer Martin, international president.

Hall spoke here today at a meeting of the Allis-Chalmers unit, whose offices were raided yesterday by thirty men under direction of George Kiebler, president of the Milwaukee district council of the U. A. W. Kiebler and his crew hauled away all records of the Allis-Chalmers unit and seized $300 of the union's funds.

In telling of plans for a district meeting in Milwaukee next Saturday, Hall denounced Martin, calling him a dictator who is using gangster tactics to prevent loss of power.

Hall Reviews Proceedings.

Hall also reviewed proceedings before the international executive board that preceded the suspension of himself, Richard Frankensteen, Wyndham Mortimer, and Walter N. Wells, vice presidents, and George F. Addes, secretary-treasurer.

Hall said a life insurance company desired to issue group policies for the entire membership and that the financial arrangements made certain board members suspicious. These members proposed to have the deal investigated by the national C. I. O. office and then taken before the next international convention.

Hall said a majority of the board supported the proposal to delay the deal and Martin became angry. He said Martin then called the board to a meeting in Washington and suspended five members, leaving nineteen of whom thirteen or a two-thirds majority, were Martin's supporters.

Refuse to Pay Their Dues.

It was Martin's suspension of Addes, the treasurer, that brought about the raid here yesterday. Kiebler said he had orders from Martin to take charge of the Allis Chalmers unit as administrator because the unit refused to pay its monthly per capita dues of $3,000 to Martin's new secretary-treasurer.

Kiebler said yesterday he would attempt to get control of $20,000 the Allis-Chalmers unit had in a Milwaukee bank, but at the protest meeting this afternoon he revealed that officers had anticipated Martin's action and had withdrawn the money and secreted it for safekeeping. Other property of the unit was placed in trust.

District Attorney Herbert J. Steffes today notified Kiebler and Harold Christoffel, president, and other officers of the Allis Chalmers unit to come to his office tomorrow for an explanation of the raid. Christoffel has demanded that criminal charges be made against Kiebler and others who took part in the raid.

Lewis to Hear Woes.

Detroit, Mich., July 17.—(AP)—The tangled affairs of the United Automobile Workers of America again will be placed before John L. Lewis, head of the Committee for Industrial Organization, in Washington Wednesday. Detroit local presidents allied with Homer Martin, international president, said Lewis has granted their request for a conference.

Two Sought in Joliet Tavern Slaying Seized

Two men, sought ever since Philip Zappa was shot and killed in a tavern holdup at Joliet on March 31, were under arrest at widely separated points last night. Charles Nedoff was seized at Whiting, Ind., and Anthony Maylak at West Point, Neb. Deputy Sherif James Black announced both would be taken to Joliet for questioning. John Hritz, under indictment in the killing, was one of two men who sawed their way out of the Will county jail in Joliet Saturday.

ORDERS INQUIRY IN C. I. O. MARCH ON COURTHOUSE

State's Attorney Charles E. Mason of Lake county ordered yesterday that two of his assistants investigate the march of C. I. O. strike sympathizers on the courthouse in Waukegan on Saturday. Oakley Mills, union organizer and a former West Virginia miner, was arrested when he led the crowd of about 1,000 into the courthouse square.

The assistant prosecutors, George Field and John Bills, were instructed to find out the motives of the march. Mills and two other men, seized when the throng refused to disperse at Sherif Lawrence A. Doolittle's order, have been charged with disturbing the peace.

A hearing on contempt charges against ten of the strike leaders will be resumed before Judge Ralph J. Dady in Waukegan today. They are charged with violating an injunction by intimidating employés of the Chicago Hardware Foundry company who wanted to work. The plant in North Chicago has been picketed by strikers since June 6.

FEAR NEW C. I. O. WAVE OF RIOTING IN NEW YORK CITY

Officials Cite Dismissal of Nine Strike Pickets.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 17.—Predictions of another wave of rioting and violence under the guise of peaceful picketing in New York City are being made as the result of the recent dismissal of indictments against nine Committee for Industrial Organization pickets who participated in a bloody fracas at the Brooklyn plant of the Presto Lock corporation.

The indictments charging rioting were voided by Judge William O'Dwyer of King's county in a formal decision which surprised assistants in the district attorney's office who had worked on the case. Police Sergeant Harold Kearns and Edward Tripp, a plant foreman, were badly beaten in the disturbance which took place on November 15 of last year.

C. I. O. Flouts Law.

"I believed it was a good case to try," said Assistant District Attorney Edward O. Kelly of Kings county who handled several phases of the investigation. "The pickets showed no respect for the orders of the police who were trying to preserve order. The police now will be tied up all the more and pickets of this character will feel they can walk all over the law."

The district attorney's office showed no inclination to go on with the case, although the problem of enforcing laws regulating picketing became more acute. Since the C. I. O. began its organizational drive following the Roosevelt election of 1936, New York has witnessed scores of strikes in which rioting and disorder have been permitted to continue under the "right to picket."

Company Wants to Forget.

The lock corporation did not make any move toward further action. The company moved its plant to Passaic, N. J., after the strike, following many concerns out of New York City and state because of conditions here. It was said at the Passaic offices that the company wanted to forget the incident.

Judge O'Dwyer's opinion, which declared that to let the indictment stand would "sanction the whittling away of the right of picketing," was in conflict with the position taken by Supreme Court Justice Salvatore A. Cotillo in another C. I. O. rioting case two weeks ago.

Issuing a sweeping injunction against two C. I. O. unions which were picketing twelve stores of the Busch Jewelry Company, Inc., Justice Cotillo found the strikers had abused their right to picket.

The unions, he stated, had committed "numerous acts of misconduct, some of which are violative of law and order and distinctly conducive to a breakdown of the public peace." These acts then were described in detail.

Furthermore, Judge Cotillo found the unions had resorted to threats, intimidation and coercion exceeding legal bounds," with the loyal workers who were in the majority.

Falls Back on Technicalities.

Judge O'Dwyer fell back on technical, legal grounds to dismiss the indictments, saying there was no premeditation on the part of the rioters. The underlying element in the statutory crime of riot, he contended, was the idea of a "lawless mob accomplishing some object in such violent and turbulent manner as to create public alarm or consternation or as terrifies or is calculated to terrify people."

According to witnesses of the melee, the police first told the pickets their number would be limited to twenty. More than 100 pickets began marching in front of the plant in defiance of the orders. The fighting began when detectives attempted to convoy men who wanted to work into the factory.

WEEDS THRIVING; URGE FARMERS TO GET RID OF THEM

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Weeds collect a tax of $225 to $250 a year on the average farm in Illinois, J. C. Hackleman, member of the state weed control committee, declared yesterday. He urged farmers to cut weeds in their pastures and stubble fields, keep unlawful weeds under control, and destroy weed pollen that is the principal cause of hay fever.

Illinois farmers may increase their 1939 yield of clover seed by about 25 per cent by clipping their clover fields to control weeds this fall, according to Hackleman, who is crop extension specialist of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

Weed Cutting Increases Hay.

He said experience at the college indicates that a fall clipping of clover to control weeds increases the yield of hay about 20 per cent and the seed production about 25 per cent the following year.

The mowing of weeds in stubble fields is recommended by Hackleman. It is his opinion that where the clover was started in small grain this spring a farmer cannot afford to overlook clipping his new legume seedings the latter part of August or the first of September. If the mower can be run four to six inches high and still cut the weeds before they go to seed it is better for the grasses and legumes.

"New seedings of legumes are not the only fields that need clipping," Hackleman added. "In many Illinois pastures, particularly those that have been thinned out by heavy pasturing and severe drouths in 1934 and 1936, there is one of the worst weed infestations in recent history. The same condition exists throughout the midwestern states."

Situation Declared Serious.

In holding weed control meetings and demonstrations in various parts of the state this season Hackleman finds the weed situation serious. Despite the big crop of weeds resulting from heavy rains this spring and early summer, this weed authority believes that such weeds as ragweeds, white top, ox-eyed daisy, dock, plantin, dog fennel, goldenrod, iron weed, fox tail, bull nettle, and others that mature their seeds in late summer and early fall can be controled if they are clipped back. In some cases it may be necessary to clip more than once to keep the weeds from going to seed, according to Hackleman.

As high as 90 per cent of the soil is occupied by noxious weeds in some Illinois pastures, according to investigations made by L. A. Moore, superintendent of the state's division of plant industry who is in immediate charge of the weed control committee, headed by J. H. Lloyd, director of the state department of agriculture. Moore says this means that many farmers are producing 90 per cent weeds and only 10 per cent grass on land intended for grazing.

He added that it is not surprising that cattle sometimes are forced to eat distasteful or poisonous weeds. Great losses are sustained by farmers, particularly dairy farmers, when milk cows are forced to eat ragweed, which causes unpleasant flavor in milk.

Moore advises farmers to be prepared to cut ragweeds about the first of August to prevent reseeding of ragweeds and the formation of pollen that causes suffering among thousands of hay fever victims.

The state weed control committee advises the cutting of all weeds before seeds are formed.

REP. LUDLOW URGES CUMMINGS BACK LAW TO BLOT OUT LYNCHING

Washington, July 17.—(AP)—Representative Louis Ludlow [D., Ind.] today asked Attorney General Homer S. Cummings to order an immediate study of lynching with a view to submitting administration-supported legislation against it to the next congress.

Representative Louis Ludlow.

In a letter to the justice department chief, Ludlow said lynching had broken out with virulence recently in Mississippi and Georgia. He suggested J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation, would be a good man to head an investigating committee.

DEBOWSKI NOTES ANNIVERSARY OF BANDIT SLAYING

Lige Debowski, the heroic chef in whose veins there now courses the blood of a dozen or more policemen, yesterday noted the first anniversary of his battle with two robbers in a liquor store at 1007 Leland avenue. He celebrated the occasion in the County hospital. He has been a patient there since July 17, 1937, when he disarmed one robber and killed both of them and was wounded five times by their bullets.

Debowski has had nine operations and twenty-one blood transfusions in the year. At one time twenty-seven policemen responded to an appeal for blood for him. He still needs at least two more operations and physicians said he will be in the hospital for at least two more months.

At the time of the now famous gun battle, Debowski lived at 4644 Sheridan road. Besides furnishing blood, police took up a collection to maintain his family, a wife and two young sons. More than $1,000 was raised. The family has been living near the hospital so they could visit Debowski frequently.

"Anybody can cook with electricity. Why, even the most inexperienced cook will get professional results right from the beginning."

"You see, we were married last August. And when we started housekeeping we thought pretty seriously about this matter of cooking. After all, a woman spends a lot of time in the kitchen, and she might as well cook on a range she really enjoys using. So we investigated electric cooking, and found out how clean, easy, and cheap it was. That's why we got an electric range.

"Well, we wouldn't trade our electric range for anything now. Electric cooking is so easy, and I get perfect results every time. There's no watching or worrying either, because the automatic controls do that for me. My husband is a piano tuner and I am a switchboard operator. So sometimes we are both away from home at the same time. I put my meal in the oven, set the automatic controls, and dinner is ready for us when we come home. Before we leave for church on Sunday, I always put my dinner in the oven and let the automatic time and temperature controls watch it for me. We have only to sit down and eat when we return.

"I like to bake in my electric oven, too. I bake all kinds of cakes and cookies. And I haven't had a single failure. That's what makes cooking and baking a real pleasure.

"As for the cost of electric cooking, I've found it less than $2 a month. I can't think of any cheaper way to cook. When I consider the results and the real enjoyment I get from cooking this modern way, well, the saving in dollars and cents just doubles the pleasure of cooking with electricity."

—MRS. HERBERT HELDT
2231 North Kildare Avenue

● Thank you, Mrs. Heldt. You are perfectly correct, and housewives in every neighborhood of Chicago agree, that anybody can cook with electricity and get perfect results every single time. The ease, the cleanliness, the speed and the low cost of electric cooking do make cooking a pleasure.

DOCTOR TELLS OF VAIN TRIP TO DYING HEIRESS

Facts to Be Brought Out in Toronto Inquest.

Knowledge that Mrs. Maybelle Horlick Sidley, malted milk heiress, was in a critical condition for days before her death July 6 in Toronto, Ont., was in possession of her family in Racine, Wis., and it was revealed last night that a Chicago brain specialist was sent to Toronto to attend her.

Dr. Peter Bassoe of 8 South Michigan avenue, said he made the trip to Toronto at the request of the Horlick family, but did not see Mrs. Sidley. When Dr. Bassoe arrived in Toronto he was informed by physicians already in attendance that Mrs. Sidley's condition was so serious that they did not think it wise for her to be disturbed.

Dr. Bassoe said last night that he had no information about Mrs. Sidley's condition other than the report of the Toronto physicians and that he returned to Chicago July 5, three days before Mrs. Sidley died.

AWAIT RESULT OF INQUEST.

TORONTO, Ont., July 17.—[Special.]—Mystery surrounding the death here on July 6 of Mrs. Maybelle Horlick Sidley, malted milk heiress, was deepened today by statements from the office of the attorney general. What turn the case will take will not be revealed until the inquest is held on July 26.

Mrs. Sidley died in the home of W. Perkins Bull, a Toronto promoter and legal adviser, where she had been a guest for more than a year. An autopsy was performed with the consent of her son, William Horlick Sidley of Racine, Wis.

After the autopsy the physicians said death was due to a brain tumor. Dr. G. W. Lougheed, who with Dr. E. A. Linell conducted the autopsy, said tonight that there also appeared to be a degeneration of the spinal cord up through the brain. He added that the condition must have existed for some time which could be determined only with careful study. From another source it was reported that the front lobe of Mrs. Sidley's brain had shriveled.

Medical Reports Due.

Attorney General Gordon Conant ordered the inquest because of facts in possession of the government and what he termed many disturbing rumors. Cecil L. Snyder, an employé of the attorney general's department, added that detailed reports of the medical examiners have not been disclosed and that when presented at the inquest will contain a great deal of information about Mrs. Sidley.

Police called Bull from his bed last Friday night to order him to appear at the inquest. They also summoned his son, Thomas H. Bull, interrupting his trip to England. He returned by train today from Montreal.

Refers to Rumors.

The rumors to which Attorney General Conant referred concerned the virtual seclusion in which Mrs. Sidley lived in the Bull home and the fact that the elder Bull is a beneficiary under her will for $250,000 in cash and one-third of the residual estate. The will was drawn last April in the Bull home and superseded a will made in 1934.

Mrs. Sidley's son, under the April will, was to receive the same sum given to Bull and another third of the residual estate. The remaining third was divided among 46 beneficiaries, individuals, charities, and schools.

Sidley has announced that he would defy a clause in his mother's will barring a contest, and probably would seek to have a will made in 1934 admitted for probate.

Sisters Killed

2 SISTERS KILLED AS CARS COLLIDE; ESCORTS INJURED

Miss Berenice Quinlan, 20 years old, and Miss Dorothy Quinlan, 22, sisters, of 7637 Emerald avenue, were killed yesterday in an automobile collision.

The young women were returning from a dance at the Arlington Country club when the car in which they were riding and another collided at 76th street and Cicero avenue. With them were Roland Howlett, 23 years old, 3110 Polk street, the driver, and Robert Quinlan, 22, of 5091 Monroe street, who was not related to the victims. The men were taken to Holy Cross hospital with the other driver, Thomas O'Reilly, 32, of 5544 Loomis street.

Robert Jeffries, colored, 26 years old, 3449 Indiana avenue, was fatally injured yesterday when the car he was driving crashed into a post at 1150 South State street. He died in the County hospital.

Peter Waicis, 50 years old, 12020 Halsted street, died in the County hospital last night of injuries incurred when he was struck by an automobile early Saturday at 119th and Halsted streets. The driver of the car was Ray Bottini of 511 West 111th street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 441 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 340 were killed in Chicago, where 9,990 were injured in the same period.

Chicagoan Drowns While Swimming in Wisconsin

Arnold Weiland, 21 years old, 7325 Union avenue, was drowned yesterday in Devil's lake near Baraboo, Wis. He was swimming with Raymond Ragont, 7300 Blackstone avenue, when he collapsed and sank. Ragont failed in an attempt to drag his companion ashore and other swimmers were too far away to help. The body was recovered.

PLANE CRASHES ON LAKE BEACH; 1 KILLED, 1 HURT

St. Joseph, Mich., July 17.—[Special.]—Ed Perry of Mishawaka, Ind., was killed and James Hupp, also of Mishawaka, was injured this afternoon when a small sport plane piloted by Hupp crashed on the beach near Bridgman, fifteen miles south of St. Joseph. Physicians at a St. Joseph hospital said Hupp would recover. Perry died when he reached the hospital.

Witnesses said Hupp and Perry were flying over the beach on which there were many bathers and that they had been low enough to wave to persons in the water. When Hupp attempted to gain altitude the plane stalled in a steep climb, turned over on its back and crashed.

TAKES OWN LIFE IN HOME; WIDOW TELLS THREATS

Charles Makal, 56 years old, shot himself to death in his home at 5817 88th place, Worth township, west of Oak Lawn, early yesterday.

His widow, Florence, who is 46, told Sergt. Jack Devine of the Willow Springs county highway police she and Harry Pilcher, 24, her son by a previous marriage, were driving up to their home when they heard the fatal shot. She said her husband had threatened her earlier in the evening, battering her head against a door, and she fled to get the assistance of her son, who was at a party nearby. Makal, she said, had been drinking heavily.

Makal was a pensioned employé of Swift & Co. An inquest will be held today.

THE LABOR BOARD'S CIVIL WAR

The Weirton Steel company hearing before the National Labor Relations board has dragged its weary course before a board examiner sitting at Steubenville, O., for nearly a year. Edward Grandison Smith, the elderly examiner, has permitted the C. I. O. to conduct the hearing about as it pleased and has given many evidences of his indifference to the issues involved. The hearing has become a habit of life with him, enabling him to round out a career in a position of unexpected authority, and if nobody else enjoys it he does.

The townspeople and the workers of the Weirton mills have become impatient of the situation and its interminable interference with their lives and employment. Their endurance reached a breaking point when Examiner Smith refused to allow the chief attorney for the company, Clyde A. Armstrong, to continue any longer on the case and barred him from further proceedings. Mr. Armstrong had annoyed the elderly examiner by his persistence in trying to exclude inadmissible evidence and testimony which had neither credibility nor relevancy, such as rumors alleged to have been spread in the plant or what somebody thought somebody else had told him a third person had heard.

The hearing has been a travesty even upon quasi-judicial and impartial ascertainment of facts, and people in the region affected by the operations of the company are at the end of their patience. When Smith fired out the company attorney the Weirton townspeople proposed to make a demonstration around the courthouse, whereupon the examiner was ordered by the Labor Relations board to move his inquiry out of that section of the country and retire to Pittsburgh for its continuation. This is the hearing in which the labor board has undertaken to suppress criticism of its proceedings, in one instance trying to make the editor of a trade magazine, Mill and Factory, submit all his editorial records and notes because his publication had called the investigation a colossal burlesque staged with the taxpayers' money. Hartley W. Barclay, the editor, refused to appear.

The National Labor board has been given to the C. I. O. as its own special government agency for the enforcement of its rules upon industry. Several cases, when written up in reports of findings, have been so full of prejudice and so evidently based upon unfair practices that when they reached the courts they had to be withdrawn lest the board be fully discovered in its unfair and indefensible methods. The American Federation of Labor has protested against the advantages given John Lewis by this piece of federal legislation and the methods of its administration. The board and its practices have encouraged the outbreak and continuance of an industrial civil war in many sections of the country.

Organizers and leaders in the Lewis organization proceed upon the assumption that they will be supported by the labor board and that if they force the suspension of an industry, defy the courts, and seize or besiege property, they will be upheld when the case comes before an examiner and that the company will be obliged to take back any of its men who have been engaged in the strife and pay them for the time they kept the plant shut down.

With such encouragement the radicals and their communistic supporters find everything to prompt them to attack the industries, knowing that they have a decision in their favor before they start. The men who are willing to work and the communities depending upon the operations of the plant may suffer, but the disturbers do not, and this species of civil war has government support.

50 YEARS' FARM RELIEF.

Next year the department of agriculture as an executive department of the government represented in the cabinet will be 50 years old. We haven't heard what the plans are for the golden jubilee. For all we know the department may claim 1939 as not its fiftieth anniversary, but as its hundredth, for congress did make a $1,000 appropriation in 1839 for seeds, soil study, and statistics.

Business organizations which have risen to great size and lasted 50 or 100 years observe the occasion of such milestones, so why shouldn't the department celebrate? For surely its growth, measured in the amount of money handled, is as phenomenal as that of any private institution. The total expenditures of the department of agriculture in the fiscal year 1937 were 1 billion 258 million dollars. Any organization which runs its operations up from $1,000 a year to a billion dollars a year within a hundred years or from a million to a billion in 50 years is justified in telling about it.

Consider the present proportions of Mr. Wallace's establishment. The expenditures of the department of agriculture in 1937 were more than the amount realized by all the farmers of the country from the sale of wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, flaxseed, and grain sorghums all combined. It was four times the value of all live stock received at the Chicago stockyards. It was nearly twice the value of all the cotton crop. It was approximately equal to the sales of International Harvester, Sears-Roebuck, and Montgomery Ward. It amounted to 15 per cent of all farmers' income from everything.

How does the department of agriculture manage to spend all that money? Well, for one thing, it has a number of functions which no other organization would ever think of. And it spends money to get farmers to follow a line of action, and more money to get them not to do it. Seven million dollars goes for wild game. Eleven million dollars is spent instructing farmers how to raise cattle and hogs and keep them well and happy. Fumigating and fertilizing is a million and a half dollar item. The extension service teaches farmers how to farm and their wives to do fancy work at a cost of 17 million dollars. Twenty million goes for bugs—studies of their life, problems, love making, and eradication. Only 5 million dollars is spent to teach farmers how to produce more and bigger corps, but the size of recent harvests suggests that this work has been successful in offsetting the department's expenditure of 350 million as inducement to farmers to raise fewer and smaller crops.

For a century, or a half century, according to the way you figure it, the department of agriculture has supposedly been helping the farmer out. And the farmer is no better off than when the department started doing good, but the department manages to whittle away helping him the value of several of his crops. Its supreme achievement after all these years is an attempt to enforce an artificial restriction of production.

The department would have justified its existence and some part of its expenditures if it had addressed its efforts toward developing other crops for farmers which would have enabled them to earn profits on all their acres. A principal one would be an American rubber, and this is not beyond achievement. When it is achieved we may be sure it will be the product of some tire company or some private inventor. A soft job at the expense of taxpayers is the least possible incentive to accomplishing anything constructive.

TRIUMPHS IN NEW YORK.

The first prerequisite for a New York triumph to a hero is Grover Whalen. It would be difficult to imagine the proper scene and its distinctive peculiarities if Grover were not the imperial greeter to take charge of the procession. Other requirements are tall buildings, narrow canyons, and tons of paper which can be torn in scraps. The New York district traversed is psychologically trained for throwing things out of the window. In an extreme high of exhilaration the impulse is to throw out the office furniture and in an emotional low it is to heave out a vice president or two and some of the customers' men.

It is peculiar, however, that the triumphs accorded persons New York particularly wishes to honor are always inspired by some act which appears as one of preëminent physical endurance and daring. This is undoubtedly Freudian, because the natural excitements of the celebrants at Wall and Broad are nearly all monetary. Yet the heroes of the New York arena have never been showered with torn up telephone books or ticker tape.

Jesse Livermore never sat on the top of an automobile seat for the shower and no member of the house of Morgan ever had the ride. When the modest little fruit jar maker of Muncie, Ind., Mr. George Ball, suddenly appeared in possession of the Van Sweringen railroad empire it never occurred to Grover Whalen that the Hoosier ought to take the ride to the city hall and be half smothered in ticker tape before he reached the welcoming arms of the mayor. Even when Mr. Farley of the postoffice thought of the $250 campaign book he wasn't hauled through the streets in triumph, and Harry Hopkins, great almoner, for all his billions has never had the elephants trotted out for him.

Curious, isn't it, that only deeds of high spirit and physical daring, performed as if by the brilliant knights of Arthurian or Niebelung legend, can bring out the real ecstasies from the temple of the golden calf? It is probably a testimonial to the hidden higher desires of this famous region which can really satisfy its soul only vicariously.

Editorials of the Day

[Washington Post.]

It seems strange that an association should be needed to secure the return to this country of the plane in which the Wright brothers made their first notable flight at Kitty Hawk. Yet the lack of progress toward that objective to date justifies the organized effort now being made in New York to regain possession of the Wright plane for this country.

At present the plane rests in a London museum where it was sent by Orville Wright several years ago following an unfortunate mistake in labeling at the Smithsonian institution. A plane built by Samuel Pierpont Langley in the year of the Wrights' first flight but never actually flown until some time later was put on display as the "first machine capable of flight carrying a man." The Smithsonian has since offered Mr. Wright all amends, plus its word that the proper designation will be applied to his craft if returned to these shores.

This would seem to pave a clear way for the plane's return. The details of Mr. Wright's arrangements with the London museum are not known, but it seems reasonable to presume that the British would be willing to return the craft on request. After all, it holds comparatively slight interest as a scientific curiosity in Kensington; here, in contrast, it would take on the aura of a national relic. The entire nation would be pleased to enshrine it as a symbol of its eminent part in the conquest of the air.

A mere word from Mr. Wright should be enough to turn the trick. No doubt the newly organized association will make its first business a straightforward suggestion to the venerable inventor that he ask for the return of his plane.

BACK TO NORMALCY.

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

Well, southern newspaper editors can now relax and return to normal. There was a lynching at Cordele, Ga., Saturday.

As early as last May some southern newspapers remarked on the singular scarcity of lynching news in 1938. As June came on the lack of mob murders became more and more conspicuous until on the last day of June Tuskegee institute, which keeps the grim statistics, was able to announce that the first half of the year had passed without a single lynching.

The news aroused plenty of comment, but it was of a curious sort. It was, for the most part, subdued and strained. Southern newspapers received the report with satisfaction, but they were obviously afraid to be jubilant lest they tempt fate.

Well, the strain is over now. Cordele, Ga., which has dripped with blood before, has splashed a large, red stain on the record of 1938. The south is herself again—advancing in civilization in some spots, it is true, but still having certain jungles inhabited by fanged creatures not materially higher than cannibals.

If the country had gone an entire year without a lynching—but why speculate? No miracle has been performed. Cordele, Ga., is still in existence, which is to say, really, high civilization is still a dream.

Flowers have music to their own designs:
The minuet is easy for the stately hollyhocks,
And hymns are natural to lilies fair,
The march was made precisely for the phlox.

Roses know a strange Arabian tune
Learned in distant gardens, but that rogue

Gemuetlichkeit.

We have all read, and with delight, of the pleasures of drinking and dining at the Buttery, Yar, and similar places, these being for the economic royalists. But have you heard of or been to Sieben's brewery in Larrabee street?

There on these warm summer nights, in the old courtyard, where in former days the trucks were loaded, are now gayly painted picnic tables. These are ladened with foaming steins of lager. Shades of Munich and Leipzig, which in their best days had no better or cooler beer! The husband, the housewife, the young girl with her lover, the children, even the house dogs come to this spot from all over the city, yes, even from Evanston, to drink the flowing brew.

Eight spigots are kept running constantly. You should see the ham and Swiss cheese sandwiches on rye, along with pretzels, being balanced on top of sixteen steins carried at one time, by young shirt sleeved waiters, who never spill a drop. We are thrilled that life can be so simple and homely a thing at times. No, there is no floor show or swing band, or even an electric player. The only music is the flowing beer.

Indiana, My Indiana.

During the first few months I lived in Indiana I was not very happy. The people seemed stiff, offish; it was impossible for me to make friends. After the easy intimacies of a city like Chicago, which now seems to me to have been almost fatuously hospitable and friendly to strangers, the self-contained reticence of a medium sized Indiana town was only downright rudeness.

Then I talked to my friend, Mrs. Huggard, who has visited here often, and she explained everything. . . . People in Indiana are a separate race of people, and they are all possessed of a certain dark craziness that forever sets them apart. They are as different from us as we are from East Indians.

Lately I have been collecting Indiana stories. One story they tell about a native son who is now a famous comedian, Charles Butterworth. During the absence of some friends on a wedding trip he bought and installed in their newly rented home an ancient broken down second hand piano, which nevertheless made a fairly presentable appearance. The young couple, on returning, were overjoyed to discover the instrument. That evening Charlie and some bachelor friends came to call, and were proudly shown the heaven sent piano. The callers calmly produced axes and hacked the thing to pieces before the eyes of the horror stricken newlyweds.

There are other tales, all indicating the same strange directed insanity, and when you realize that life in Indiana is only a series of them, things become easier. I puzzled for some time over the activities of the prominent Eudadoras Social club. Funny, I said to myself, I had never run across the name of the Goddess Eudadoras.

And I never will. She isn't a goddess. Not until I said the name out loud did I catch on. Indiana, my Indiana.

COCKTAIL.

She lolled at a cocktail bar
At five in the afternoon,
Outside was the glory of sunset—
In the offing, a slim new moon.
She lounged at the cocktail bar
While the night with stars was rife,
She drank in the clatter, the piffle, the din—
O boy, was she seeing life!

The passion of the late Kate S. Buckingham for anonymity—she gave many art treasures in the name of her sister and refused to be registered in either the Social Register or Who's Who—is dramatically carried out even in death. This if we can believe the eyesight of a visitor in town who stopped in Zanesville, O., and visited Woodlawn cemetery, where all the Buckinghams lie in rows about a high Buckingham shaft. The late Miss Buckingham's grave is marked with a stone bearing the name of her sister. It is very easy to tell which is the newest grave, and the headstone reads, not Kate S. Buckingham, but Lucy M. Buckingham. . . . There may be some other explanation of this than the late Chicago philanthropist's passion for anonymity, but we think it makes for nice dramatic unity.

FROM BLOOD LETTING TO TRANSFUSIONS.

A CENTURY or more ago, among a certain school of medical men, bleeding was practiced for every ill. In fevers particularly sufferers presented flushed faces with a pulse which was described as "full and bounding." From this the assumption was drawn that the vessels were overfilled. From the reading of old medical articles we learn that the patient was bled until he fainted. As soon as he regained consciousness the operation was repeated—for good measure. The "bleeding shop" was a well known institution and many who were perfectly well were accustomed to visit the establishment every spring and autumn as a precaution against seasonal maladies.

Leeching was so common that the word came to symbolize the physician. "Send for a leech" meant "Call the doctor." Originally the term signified healing. Later it was applied to certain sucking animals [annelides] so widely used in the eighteenth century—even into the nineteenth. It is recorded that in the year 1743 over 41 million leeches were imported into France. The striped pole sometimes displayed before modern barber shops is a relic of the barber-surgeons. The red and blue represented arterial and venous blood, and white the bandage.

Perhaps we have now gone to the other extreme and are giving transfusions for too many ailments. Obviously, if a substantial volume of blood has been lost because of hemorrhage, and the pressure has fallen in consequence, with an accompanying rapid pulse—this measure is indicated, as enough fluid may not remain in the circulation to carry oxygen to the tissues. In such a circumstance, for example, as hemorrhage from a peptic ulcer, the thing desired is to bring about clotting at the point of rupture. Introducing new blood is the best method we possess. In fact, if surgery seems necessary the danger is decreased many fold if two or three transfusions may be given prior to the operation.

Another important condition is known as shock. This is a peculiar state of the body in which the pressure within the arteries falls and the skin appears pale—although the individual may be conscious and in no pain. If hemorrhage has been a contributing factor blood is required, as well as heat. Unless vital fluid has been lost, however, there is no advantage in transfusion, as a solution of gum acacia is fully as useful. Sometimes the situation may be combated merely by giving a large volume of water or weak tea by mouth.

There are so many diseases of the blood forming organs that we now resort to furnishing new material from a suitable source. This is the best means we have of supporting the one who is fighting an extreme anemia. Two or three pints of blood may carry the person far enough along the road to recovery to permit the employment of other remedies which will then, as we say, take hold.

Again the régime is used in diseases of the liver cells, in many infections and toxemias, and in bolstering up the reserve after surgical operations. All in all we may assert with safety that transfusion is a life saving plan in many dangerous emergencies. It is not, however, a cure-all to be applied indiscriminately to every ill.

What are the risks and dangers, if any? In the first place, the blood of the donor must be compatible with that of the recipient; it must belong to the same group. Otherwise the red cells of the new supply may clump together and dissolve, resulting in a severe reaction. Sometimes relatives wonder why they cannot be used. The reason is that they fall within a type which does not match that of the invalid. This situation may call for the services of a professional donor who is examined periodically as to his health.

Hospitals must always be ready to carry out a transfusion. In fact, a leader with a team of assistants, highly trained in the execution of every maneuver, should be available on short notice.

THEY'RE FATTY TUMORS.

Mrs. T. writes: What is meant by lipoma? How do such tumors start and on what part of the body do they appear? Are they dangerous? Is there a cure?

REPLY.

Lipoma are tumors composed of fatty tissue. The cause is unknown. Common locations are the neck, the back, and the buttocks. Occasionally, if they are injured, inflammation or ulceration may follow. They rarely become cancerous. As a rule they are readily removed by a simple surgical operation. Thyroid extract is sometimes of benefit, although this substance should not be taken except under your physician's direction.

SKIN OVERSENSITIVE.

J. P. S. writes: I am bothered with itching after I bathe. I have tried hot water, tepid, and cool, and all kinds of soaps, but nothing helps.

REPLY.

Bath pruritus indicates a very sensitive skin. It is usually more persistent and severe when the patient goes to bed after the bath, and disappears more quickly if he dresses immediately. Another factor is the chronic effect of the excessive use of strong soap, or imperfect rinsing of the body. A handful of starch in the bath water will eliminate the difficulty in most cases.

GAS MAY CAUSE PAIN.

G. P. writes: Would a sharp pain in the region of the appendix, shortly after this structure was removed, indicate adhesions?

REPLY.

Wait a few weeks until the coils of bowel have adjusted themselves, before resorting to drastic measures. A small pocket of gas may be responsible, although the possibility of adhesions should be considered.

RIGA.—The ninth Latvian song festival in Riga, where 20,000 singers garbed in national costume, together with visiting choirs from Estonia and Lithuania, entertained a crowd of more than 100,000.

The Latvian festival was made the occasion for a number of important meetings between cultural and social organizations of the three Baltic states, and the program of songs ended a week of collaboration of the Baltic entente. Both Estonian and Lithuanian flags were flown from all public buildings in Latvia during the celebrations.

Three presidents—Karl Ulmanis of Latvia, Antanas Smetona of Lithuania, and Konstantin Piats of Estonia—all sent messages, emphasizing the unity of the Baltic states as the best insurance for their future independence.

From addresses of Baltic statesmen it was evident Poland's attempt to increase her influence among these countries, joining them in a Polish-Rumanian alliance to form a barrier, which the Warsaw press likes to call "a bastion of peace," between Germany and Russia, so far has failed.

Poland's prestige with these countries has suffered since Warsaw sent an ultimatum to Lithuania forcing that country to open normal relations without compensating her for her loss of Vilna. Warsaw's refusal to halt her policy of oppression against the Lithuanian minority in the Vilna district has strengthened the disinclination of the Baltic entente to follow the policies of Foreign Minister Col. Josef Beck.

BERLIN.—Hydrogen-filled German Zeppelins may yet fly across the Atlantic on regular passenger service in spite of Dr. Hugo Eckener's statement that "I will never again permit a hydrogen filled Zeppelin to take the air," the official Westdeutscher Beobachter reports.

Commenting on a recent speech by the chief engineer of the Zeppelin works, Dr. Karl Duerr, in which he explained a new method of creating ballast by collecting water contained in the exhaust gases of the motors, the paper states that "since this practically eliminates the necessity of discharging hydrogen to make up for loss of weight as fuel is consumed, the greatest fire hazard is avoided and it probably will be possible to continue filling airships with hydrogen."

The idea of collecting water contained in exhaust gases is not new, the newspaper declares. It points out that the Schuette-Lanz Airship works used this method as far back as 1910, and that American dirigibles also had equipment for this purpose. The chief difficulty heretofore, the paper points out, has been the fact that the condensing pipes of the apparatus quickly became clogged with dirt and could not be cleaned in flight.

According to Dr. Duerr, the Zeppelin company now has perfected a condensing apparatus which has proved entirely successful. In experiments with a Diesel airplane engine 80 per cent of the weight of the fuel was regained in water ballast. As a result, the Westdeutscher Beobachter says, it is practically unnecessary to valve gas to make up for loss of fuel. This eliminates the greatest fire hazard.

ESTATE DISTRIBUTION.

Chicago, July 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My parents owned three farms in Missouri and before their death had willed one farm to two of us children and one to the other five, and appointed the oldest daughter administrator. The third farm was given to his grandchildren, eight of them ranging from 8 years old to 20, their father being deceased. Now after he had made said will [1] he sold the farm he had given his grandchildren, accepting $600 cash as [2] part payment and 6 per cent interest until paid in full. No amendment to will. The will makes all personal property property of the heirs.

3. Can we start a trust fund for the children to whom it was originally willed and [4] must we accept the property as sold—that is, must we let farm go—$600 being paid so far?

5. The money paid my father was spent. Do we have to make good that sum if we put the rest in a fund for them? Can we demand [6] payment in full now as we become owners of said farm? The agreement was for purchasers to pay 6 per cent interest yearly until paid in full.

7. Was it legal to sell farm after will was made, inasmuch as will was not changed? J. E.

1. In general, a will is not operative until the death of the testator. If before his death he has sold or given away assets referred to in the will, this defeats the will.

2. Part payment of what?

3. If all of the beneficiaries are of legal age, they can make any arrangement that they please as to assets left by the deceased at the time of his death.

4. If the deceased entered into a valid contract of sale, this would be binding on the beneficiaries under his will.

5. Your facts are highly obscure. Are we to infer from your statement at 5 that you mean at 2 that the testator was the one accepting the cash, rather than the grandchildren? If they paid money to him in reliance on getting the land, we would advise them to go over all of the surrounding circumstances in an interview with an attorney.

6. Payment of what in full?

7. The mere fact that a party has made a will does not prevent him from afterward selling some of the assets mentioned in the will, but if, in addition to the will, he has entered into an agreement to transfer the title to the beneficiaries, then obviously it would be inconsistent with that agreement to sell to other parties.

LIABILITY ON NOTE.

Chicago, July 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Nine years ago I indorsed a note [due in one year] for a friend.

2. My friend failed to pay the note when due and holder of note obtained judgment against him, ignoring my indorsement and notifying me of the action.

3. The judgment, which is good for seven years in Illinois, I believe, expired a year ago. At this late date the holder of the note demands payment from me as guarantor.

4. Am I still liable? H. N.

1. The holder should have presented the instrument at maturity and given you notice of dishonor. You do not indicate whether he took these requisite steps. If he took them, your liability would continue for ten years until barred by the statute of limitations.

2. This would not release you if you are liable on the above facts.

3. You are mistaken. The judgment lien expires in seven years, but the judgment itself is not barred until twenty years have elapsed.

A WORD ABOUT SACRED THINGS.

Chicago, July 14.—Recently I received a telegram from a union official requesting me to publish the names of a group of hotels whose employés are on strike. I was further urged to plead with all salesmen to avoid those hotels. The strike was said to be due to some one's failure to abide by agreements already made, violating the sanctity of contracts.

I know nothing at all about the particular merits of that strike. Perhaps it was justified. Perhaps it wasn't. I don't know. And I am not gravely concerned about it. Both capital and labor during the last few years have given the nation plenty of evidence that neither regards the sanctity of contracts very highly when something can be gained by violating agreements.

With twelve million minus jobs in this country we see the strange spectacle of thousands who could be helping restore prosperity refusing to work and actually preventing others who wish to work from doing so. Should I get excited about a plea from labor to help uphold the sanctity of contracts when labor itself is guilty of these barbarisms? Is it a worse offense to violate some detail of an agreement—but still leave men at work—than to throw a picket line around a factory and for weeks prevent men from working who want to do so? Is the agreement signed between the management of a hotel and its help more sacred than distribution of the United States mail? Certain labor leaders had no compunction about disrupting that!

When we begin to talk about sacred things the welfare of the whole people comes first. If this nation is ever driven into a dictatorship it will be accomplished by these selfish groups, which I call regiments of capital and labor, who, determined to get what THEY want, so ruin the country and destroy its peace that a Man on Horseback must be set up to smash them all.

Then, of course, it will be necessary to smash him—and out of the welter of blood the nation will rise again.

DREAMS OF OLD DOC YAK.

Chicago, July 14.—A few nights ago I dreamt I was reading THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE "funnies" and turned over a page and there was "Doc Yak" in all his glory, starting on a new career, which leads me to wonder if it would not be a good idea for you to have one of your large staf of artists take up this character and renew his life to practically a new public. Even the old readers would enjoy seeing him resurrected. One of your artists is making a pretty good job of the Gumps. Haven't you another genius for Doc Yak?

DEFENDS THE PAROLE ORDER.

Chicago, July 14.—I notice an item in today's Voice of the People in which "Citizen and Taxpayer" deplores the report that 118 men have been granted a parole in Illinois while many "honest good citizens" are out of work.

Apparently Mr. Taxpayer would rather support these men in prison at an average cost of over $300 a year than to have them earning their own living and keeping their dependents off the relief roll. This writer apparently assumes that these men will be released and does not know the majority of them will not be able to meet the requirements of an employer and sponsor, and will still remain in the institution, as over 300 others are still there who were granted a parole over eighteen months ago.

I would like to call Mr. Citizen's attention to the fact that only a few men have a life sentence and that, if we had no parole law, men would be discharged from prison but without the desired supervision and guidance in their readjustment.

A GAMBLING VICTIM.

Chicago, July 14.—Maybe there are numerous other cases like mine—my home life, children, and myself are the victims of a poor gambling husband and father, all because Mr. Courtney allows the gambling houses to remain open wide.

I have five children and do not know what will happen if this continues. He isn't dragged into those places, I will admit, but, if they weren't permitted, he could not go into them.

I will give the state's attorney the addresses of several gambling houses downtown right across from the city hall in case he does not know about them.

CRUSHING BLOW DEALT VALENCIA DEFENSE FORCES

Rebels Advance Steadily Down Sagunto Road.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], July 17. — (AP) — The hard-pressed Spanish government's lines were smashed today in a sector vital to the defense of Valencia by a crushing blow that may change the whole picture of the Spanish civil war now entering its third year.

Rebel Gen. José Varela's Navarrese struck deep into government territory south and east of the Teruel-Sagunto line in eastern Spain.

There was gloom in Bacrelona, the government capital, and in Valencia as officials prepared war anniversary observances that will include a broadcast by rarely heard President Manuel Azana tomorrow.

Concentrate All of Weapons.

Both sides seemed to have concentrated every possible warplane, tank, gun, and man in the arid, scorching countryside where the action may quicken rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco's march toward Valencia and lead eventually to a breach of communications between that port and beseiged Madrid.

Government advices said the rebels lost "thousands and thousands" of killed and wounded. Rebel reports mentioned between 3,000 and 4,000 government prisoners taken.

Varela apparently was taking advantage of the unprecedented concentration of government forces in the area, estimated at 180,000, about 50 miles northwest of Valencia.

Mora de Rubielos, Albentosa, and San Augustin, on the twenty-two mile front, were captured yesterday in a fierce offensive in which the rebels used every variety of weapon.

Withdraw 40,000 Troops.

Mora de Rubielos, point of a salient the government had held two months north of the Sagunto road, fell quickly. Rebels said they ran up their red and gold flag 30 minutes after storming the town's entrenchments.

The swift government withdrawal, apparently, was to remove a force estimated at 40,000 men from peril of isolation as rebel pincers pressed in the base of the salient along the highway.

Rebels declared they immediately struck seven miles southeast, also capturing Rubielos de Mora with simultaneous attacks from both sides of the village. The two control highways above the upper Mijares river feeding into the broken government salient.

Capture 2 Highway Towns.

Late today the government admitted the fall of Barracas and Pina, two towns inside Castellon province and along the road from Teruel to Sagunto.

A Barcelona communique said the "Italian invaders" succeeded in occupying the territory after a terrific combat in which the rebels used fifty tanks supported by constant aerial attacks.

Franco's commanders said a tankled column swept into Barracas in 15 minutes after artillery and aviation barrages broke the government fortifications. They said troops broke bottles of cider to celebrate the crossing of the provincial border.

The government charged Italian troops had entered Varela's lines and declared 200 heavy Italian guns had been implanted behind them. Semi-official advices from Valencia said Albentosa was captured exclusively by Italian forces. They said "the republican high command" knows all troops operating in the Sarrion sector are Italian.

Loyalists Still Confident.

BARCELONA, Spain, July 17.—(AP)—Government Spain proclaimed confidence in final victory in a flood of manifestos tonight, the eve of the third year of civil war.

"Republican Spain enters its third year of war with all the more confidence in victory and with determination to fight to the finish," Foreign Minister Julio Alvarez del Vayo declared in the day's principal statement.

Hail Moorish Allies.

SARAGOSSA, Spain, July 17.—(AP)—Rebel Spain observed "Africa day" in honor of its Moroccan allies today, the first of three day observances of the second anniversary of the rebel uprising.

Pageantry and a bull fight featured the anniversary festival in Saragossa and other provincial capitals. Generissimo Francisco Franco was scheduled to broadcast to rebel Spain from Burgos, his headquarters, tomorrow.

DATE OF HUGHES' NEXT FLIGHT IS STILL IN DOUBT

New York, July 17.—[Special.]—The date of Howard Hughes' projected good-will flight to South America remained unsettled today as the flyer, relaxing after his record world trip, came out of seclusion and appeared at two private social functions on Long Island.

It was officially confirmed that Hughes had an agreement with the world's fair to make a flight to South America, carrying messages of greeting, just as he did on his recent flight around the world, when he stopped in France and Russia.

Hughes was the guest tonight of Grover A. Whalen at Whalen's new summer home near Roslyn, Long Island, N. Y. Katharine Hepburn, screen actress, with whom Hughes' name has been connected romantically, attended the party.

U. S. GRAND JURY TO GET FACTS IN MILK QUIZ TODAY

Presentation of evidence to the federal grand jury in the government's investigation of an alleged milk trust in the Chicago area will begin today. The first of a mass of records and letters subpenaed from trade and union organizations will be introduced. The department of justice has spent a year in preparing the data.

District Attorney Michael L. Igoe and Leo F. Tierney, special assistant attorney general, will submit records of the International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, with headquarters in Washington, D. C. Records of the Pure Milk association, Chicago marketing agency for 14,500 dairy farmers, and the Milk Dealers' Bottle exchange, 2355 South Blue Island avenue, also have been subpenaed.

It is expected that the grand jury's work will require most of the summer. Three hundred witnesses will be called.

SPANISH REBELS GIVE DECORATIONS TO NAZI AND ITALIAN LEADERS

BURGOS, Spain, July 17.—(AP)—Rebel Spain has honored Italy and Germany by awarding decorations to Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Germany's No. 2 Nazi, and Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister.

Goering was granted a grand knighthood and the collar of the Great Imperial Order of Red Arrows. Count Ciano was made a knight of the Order of Isabel the Catholic.

A cabinet meeting Saturday also named Gen. Ignacio Llanderas Fraga as chief of the military region of Andalusia. Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano remained as commander-in-chief of the rebels' southern army.

MEXICAN INVESTMENT

By CALEB

"THE PEEG, senor, is our—how you say it—investment."

Pedro settled himself more comfortably against the rickety corner post of the store's front porch, rolled a brown paper cigarette, and with sweeping gestures that took in the whole Mexican countryside, proceeded to explain. His audience was our Mr. H——, charged with the responsibility of finding new merchandise for the Mexican Market at Field's.

"You ask, senor, why we shape our little clay banks like the peeg instead of a horse or perhaps a small house. I will tell you: it is because in Mexico often the real peeg is our saving bank. At my house we have seven children. Bueno! When my Maria make the meals, she cook enough for eight—and what is left goes to the peeg always. Comes the bad day, the peeg is fat and ready; he can be sold—or eaten. You understand, senor? It is what you say in America, 'investment.'"

Thus, besides his list of interesting Mexican items, Mr. H—— acquires a bit of philosophy. He finds it wise and profitable to absorb the spirit of the country in which he may be buying. For instance, he has learned by long experience that so far as Pedro is concerned, there is no use in trying to hurry him. It seems to be almost a matter of honor with Pedro not to offer very much for sale at one time.

In any event, the items that Pedro and his friends make possess a striking beauty achieved in colorful simplicity. To their makers most of these items—like the beloved 'peeg'—represent practical household utilities. Pedro is still mildly surprised that anyone should want to buy his utensils for beauty more than utility.

Once Mr. H—— asked Pedro why his pig banks had only one slot to put the money in, making it necessary to break the bank to get the money out. With a sly wink Pedro said, "That is to discourage the thought of taking money out, senor. If we make it too easy, then when bad times come, money is already gone. But to break the bank? Ah, senor, you think twice before you do that, is it not so?" The only satisfactory answer was to buy the small group of pig banks that Pedro had to offer.

STUTTGART HIT AS NAZI PURGE OF JEWS SPREADS

Shop Windows Daubed in Violent Campaign.

STUTTGART, Germany, July 17.—(AP)—Stuttgart during the last nine days has experienced its first violent anti-Jewish boycott campaign since 1933.

The tactics used were similar to those last month in Berlin in an effort to drive Jews out of economic life.

Jewish shop windows and cases on the night of July 7 were plastered with bright yellow placards which bore in red the words "Jüdisches Geschäft" [Jewish business] and the star of David.

Written in Italian, Too.

Because hundreds of Italian vacationing workers are here, the placards bore the Italian equivalent, "Negozio Lebreo," beneath the German print.

Observers said that employés of Jewish concerns who sought to scratch off the labels the following day were thrashed.

British Pray for German Jews.

LONDON, July 17.—(AP) — Special prayers were offered in churches and synagogues in the British Isles and dominions today, Intercession Sunday, for Jews in greater Germany. Services in Anglican churches were requested by the archbishop of Canterbury and the archbishop of York. Services were held also in Roman Catholic and Free churches. A special prayer composed by Dr. Joseph Herman Hertz, chief rabbi of the United Hebrew congregations of the British empire, was recited in every synagogue.

Eddie Cantor, American movie and radio comedian who is in England to raise funds for Austro-German Jewish children, announced at a meeting of the board of deputies of British Jews that he had raised $85,000.

GOLDEN JUBILEE CELEBRATED BY ALEXIAN BROTHER

Fifty years ago the Alexian Brothers community took in its first American born member, Christian Goeser. Yesterday a group of relatives and friends, including many patients whom he helped nurse back to health, gathered at the Alexian Brothers hospital to observe his golden jubilee.

Brother Cyprian has served almost all that time in the local hospital, the only one in the Chicago area which has only male patients and male nurses. For thirty-five years he was director of novices. Recently he has been supervisor of the stockroom. Other members of the community said that he continues to work as hard as he did during his novitiate.

Several of the visitors were from distant states. About thirty-five attended the jubilee dinner.

700,000 REGISTER TO GUARD RIGHTS OF FELLOW JEWS

New York, July 17.—(AP)—The American Jewish congress announced today that 698,993 Jews in 543 cities in thirty-six states have registered in support of the congress "to mobilize American Jews in defense of the equal rights of Jews the world over." Congress officials said the figures were not complete, forty-seven cities not having accounted for their registration. They said the total probably would reach 750,000. Greater New York led the country with a registration of 574,650. Outside of Greater New York the largest registration was in Chicago, where 50,800 registered and 33,344 voted.

ARRAIGN THREE ON TAX FRAUD CHARGES TODAY

Three officials of Right Brothers & Stein, Inc., food and produce dealers, will be arraigned in Felony court this morning on charges of conspiracy to defraud the state of $26,000 in sales taxes since 1933. They are Nathan Stein, president of the concern, and his brothers-in-law, Abraham and Jacob Right, secretary-treasurer and store manager, respectively. The company's stores are at 4762 Milwaukee avenue, 7624 North Paulina street, 4637 Broadway, and 733 Main street, Evanston.

Traveling on $22

MARIE COLAN.

JACQUELYN JACOBS.

Two girls, each 14 years old, who left home early yesterday after writing notes saying they were going traveling for a few weeks, were being sought by the police last night. They are Marie Colan, 4446 North Wolcott street, and Jacquelyn Jacobs, 1901 Argyle street. Both were graduated from the McPherson grammar school last June.

The note left by the Colan girl read: "Dear mother. Sorry. Don't worry. We are traveling in style; will let you know in a week where we are. P.S. Sorry to have had to borrow $10. Will pay it back later."

The girls had $22 between them, according to their parents. Mrs. Michael Colan said she feared they would try to hitch-hike to Alabama to see relatives. Both girls were carrying suitcases and flashlights.

DEATHS MOUNT IN HOLY LAND RACIAL STRIFE

Lift Curfew at Haifa Despite Bombings.

JERUSALEM, July 17.—(AP)—Scattered disorders increased the toll of casualties today in the racial strife throughout the Holy Land.

The total dead since the outbreak July 5 included 70 Arabs and 31 Jews. Wounded during the period were 180 Arabs and 102 Jews.

In addition, a number of guerrillas have been killed or wounded and British troops have been injured in hill clashes.

Jewish Constable Killed.

Since last night a Jewish supernumerary constable was killed in the Jewish setlement of Ramat Hakovesh, in the Tulkarm area.

The bodies of three Arabs who had been shot were found near Tel Aviv. Another Arab was killed and one wounded in an attack by an armed band on the Hebron road.

A Jewish farmer was wounded while walking in Acre. A British constable was injured by attackers near Sarafand, the main camp of British troops in Palestine.

Haifa Tension Eases.

In Jerusalem truckloads of troops of the Black Watch regiment went through different parts of the city and searched pedestrians and vehicles.

Although two bombs were thrown and arson continued, the tension relaxed enough in Haifa to lift a curfew which had been clamped down on the ancient city. No one was injured by the two explosions.

Objects to Engineer for Investigating Body.

to gather. The committee expects to be occupied most of the summer and fall.

How much of the millions of dollars spent on dams in the half billion dollar social and electric power experiment in an ordered society should be regarded as hydro-power investment is a basic problem. How much is to be chalked off for navigation and flood control is its twin issue.

Arthur Morgan charges TVA has not given the public an idea of how much the kilowatts cost. He charges TVA has fabricated subsidized yardsticks for communities using TVA juice and that the people are being deceived. This in turn affects taxpayers all over the country in the form of taxes to support the experiment.

Bargain Rates Protested.

Bargain counter rates given to four great industrial corporations and one private utility are part of this yardstick phase of the Morgan charges.

Arthur Morgan opposed a contract with the Aluminum Company of America for 112,000 kilowatts of firm and secondary power at low rates for use in its plant at Alcoa. He insists it was folly to commit TVA to such a contract without knowing what it costs to generate the electricity.

Norris dam cost $36,000,000 and has an installed capacity of 100,000 kilowatts, which gives an idea of the size of the aluminum contract. Others who benefited by TVA contracts are the Monsanto Chemical company, the Electro-Metallurgical company, the Victor Chemical company, and the Arkansas Power and Light company.

FOUND SHOT TO DEATH ON CAMPUS.

Glenn Rutledge, 33 years old, an employé at Rosary college, River Forest, was found shot to death on the college campus yesterday. A shotgun was beside him. Police said he apparently shot himself accidentally.

"CAMEL BUYS MY BEST TOBACCO"
ROBERT OAKLEY tells what that means to a smoker

BEING A TOBACCO PLANTER, I'M QUALIFIED TO SAY WHO BUYS FINER TOBACCO. THAT MEANS CAMEL. JUST LAST YEAR, CAMEL BOUGHT THE BEST GRADES OF MY CROP. LIKE MOST PLANTERS, I SMOKE CAMELS. THERE'S A LOT OF CONTENTMENT IN KNOWING YOU ARE SMOKING FINER TOBACCO

MEN who grow and grade tobacco are frank about the difference in cigarettes. Knowing that finer tobacco is bought for Camels, tobacco planters are steady Camel smokers. Like millions of other smokers, you too will find that there's a world of added pleasure in Camel's FINER, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS.
"WE SMOKE CAMELS BECAUSE WE KNOW TOBACCO" TOBACCO PLANTERS SAY

on good times this summer because of a neglected venereal infection!

Gonorrhea or syphilis needn't bar you from sports if you'll procure treatment from your family doctor or this reliable clinic—at once!

SUMMER is a season of happy days—days of swimming, hiking, baseball, golf and other outdoor activities. But they hold little joy for sufferers from venereal diseases, as these infections make it extremely dangerous for their victims to take part in vigorous sports unless they are being properly treated.

Thus all men and women who have gonorrhea or syphilis should hasten to obtain dependable medical attention. For not only will they be barred from good times until they get under treatment, but if they continue to neglect their infections they may become permanently disabled!

Neglected gonorrhea, for example, may extend to the prostate, bladder or even kidneys, resulting in serious disorders. Or the germs may penetrate to the joints, causing crippling rheumatism. It is the foremost cause of sterility, and is responsible for most of the mutilating pelvic operations performed on women.

Neglected syphilis is still more dangerous, for it may lead to insanity, blindness, deafness, locomotor ataxia, apoplexy, paralysis, ulcers of the skin or bone destruction! Neglected syphilis is also accountable for more stillborn and defective babies than any other cause.

It's risky to wait a day!

Hence it's extremely reckless to neglect a venereal disease, or to try to cure it yourself. For the sooner a competent physician or clinic is consulted, the better are your chances of recovery. Thus every month, week or even day you save has an important bearing on the final outcome of your case!

Especially is this true of syphilis, for unless treatment is begun in its earlier stages it may not be possible to do any more than stop further progress of the disease. So, if you know or suspect that you have a venereal infection, don't continue to neglect it or aggravate it by self treatment but immediately consult your family doctor or the Public Health Institute!

The friendly, sympathetic men and women physicians of the Public Health Institute specialize in the examination and treatment of venereal diseases. To date they have given over 5,000,000 examinations and treatments to over 250,000 individual patients! Each patient is promptly attended in a private room, and for the sake of even greater privacy is known by a number instead of by name.

Treatments as low as $1.00

Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, the Public Health Institute offers low cost venereal disease treatment to those unable to pay higher fees. A complete examination for gonorrhea and syphilis, including urinalysis, smears and Wassermann blood test, costs only $3.00, while some treatments for syphilis cost as little as $1.00 and some of those for gonorrhea still less!

Thus it's foolish to allow a venereal infection to keep you from having good times this summer and perhaps disable you permanently. For not only can the very best of medical attention be obtained confidentially and at nominal cost, but even persons who are temporarily pressed for funds can arrange to be treated!

NOTE: The Public Health Institute has no connection with any other Chicago health or medical institute, and should not be confused with those operated for personal gain!

DEMOCRATS SEE ROOSEVELT IN 3D TERM RACE

Point to Western Jaunt, Primary Speeches.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 17.—[Special.]—Prominent Democrats have become convinced by President Roosevelt's unprecedented incursion into party primary campaigns that he is a candidate for a third term.

Not so long ago these same Democrats were stoutly asserting that the President entertained no ambitions to succeed himself and would not permit his name to go before the 1940 convention. Developments of the past week have caused them to whistle another tune—and it is a doleful strain.

A Democratic senator declared today after studying the words and actions of Mr. Roosevelt on his personal appearance tour, that he could come to no other conclusion than that the President feels that the right man to fill his shoes is the man who has been wearing them.

Cites Rooseveltian Promises.

"The President has gone across the country telling the people what he can do for them and making promises," said this senator. "His objective on this trip was to help his stand with the people. There is no doubt that such promises are effective.

"So far as the primaries are concerned, tangible results of the President's excursion are negligible. He patted Senator Thomas of Oklahoma on the back and Thomas was renominated three days later by a substantial margin. The Roosevelt blessing helped, but campaigns aren't won in the last week and it can be assumed that Senator Thomas would have won anyway."

Indorses Likely Winners.

This observer pointed out that the President indorsed Senators Barkley and Bulkley in Kentucky and Ohio. Both are considered fairly certain of victory. On the other hand, the President did not attack Senators Adams and McCarran in Colorado and Nevada although both, who have fought certain administration policies, are opposed by "100 per cent Roosevelt" candidates.

"So what was the actual result of the trip?" the senator inquired. "It was to heighten the President's unquestioned popularity with the people, to give him a chance to repeat his promises to do something for them. The only logical conclusion is that the expedition was undertaken by a man who apparently has no intention of retiring from the political scene in 1940."

Garner's Action Recalled.

Apparently Vice President Garner, usually referred to as having one of the shrewdest political minds in his party, also believed that the cross-country trip would stimulate the President's third term ambitions. He timed an announcement that he would not be a candidate for vice president a third time just before the President left Washington.

A second reason for the belief of some of the Democratic party chieftains that Mr. Roosevelt wants to succeed himself is that the President undoubtedly wants to control the choice of a candidate in 1940. In that case, they inquire, whom can the President nominate to continue his course except himself? They point out that there are very few "100 per cent Roosevelt" men with the political experience which a successful Presidential candidate is supposed to have.

Others Fail to Fill Bill.

The name of Senator Barkley has been mentioned but the Kentuckian is merely a faithful follower and a social philosopher of the Roosevelt type, these observers say. Nor do Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace or Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, both former Republicans, fill the bill so far as political standards go.

One of the strongest reasons for support of the third term theory is that the little group of White House advisers which surround the President are known to be warmly in favor of the idea. Such men as Tommy Corcoran and Ben Cohen believe that Mr. Roosevelt alone can carry out the program which they drafted. There is also a personal consideration entering into their urging. The group would not have the influence they now possess at the White House and might even be expected to lose their jobs if Mr. Roosevelt went out of office.

Fishing Tragedy

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Weissman, who were rescued by fishermen when boat overturned.

Benjamin Widoff (left), who was also saved, and Edwin Graham, who lost his life when he tried to swim from overturned boat for help.

Attempting to swim ashore to summon help for three companions who were clinging to an overturned boat, Edwin Forest Graham, 37 years old, of 5816 North Maplewood avenue, yesterday drowned off Calvary beach, Evanston.

Fishermen rescued the others: Mrs. Roselyn Weissman and her husband, Martin, of 1632 Juneway terrace, and Benjamin Widoff of 1626 Juneway terrace. The four had started fishing in an outboard motor boat when a squall upset them.

Coast guardsmen recovered Graham's body later. They said he probably would have lived had he stayed with the overturned craft.

G. O. P. TO TACKLE FARM PROBLEM AT PARLEY AUG. 1

Dr. Frank Calls Experts to Meet in Chicago.

One of the first problems to be tackled by the Republican program committee when it meets here the first week of August will be the troubles of the American farmer with markets at home and abroad.

Dr. Asher Hobson.

Dr. Glenn Frank, chairman of the committee, yesterday announced a list of noted farm experts who will attend the sessions to develop farm planks for the party platform.

A round table of agricultural discussion has been organized under the leadership of Dr. Asher Hobson, head of the department of agricultural economics at the University of Wisconsin.

Notables Among Witnesses.

Expert witnesses at the round table, beginning Monday, Aug. 1, will include the following:

Dr. H. C. Tyler, director of the Farm Foundation, Chicago, who will suggest alternatives to present national agricultural policies.

Dr. Karl Brandt, former professor in the college of agriculture of the University of Berlin and special agricultural advisor to the former German government, who will describe the results of centralized direction of agriculture in Germany. He is now professor-elect in Leland Stanford university.

Dr. T. W. Schultz, head of the department of economics and sociology in the Iowa State College of Agriculture. He will discuss the problem of farm tenancy and existing legislation on this subject.

John Brandt, president of Land o' Lakes Coöperative Creameries, Minneapolis, Minn., the largest farmers' coöperative producer of butter in the world. He will describe his plan for surplus control of farm products.

Dr. J. S. Davis, director of the Food Research institute of Leland Stanford university.

Leland Stanford Food Expert.

Dr. Charles S. Johnson, director of the social science department of Fisk university and director of the Institute of Race Relations at Swarthmore college.

C. C. Teague, president of the California Fruit Growers' exchange, the California Walnut Growers' exchange, and the California Agricultural council.

MEXICO'S PRESIDENT WISHES ROOSEVELT GOOD LUCK ON CRUISE

U. S. S. Houston, En Route to Panama, July 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, sailing toward equatorial Pacific fishing grounds, today received greeting from President Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico as the Houston dropped anchor off Cedros Island, lower California.

The Mexican gunboat G-29 brought Capt. Roberto Gomez Maguro, head of the naval service at Guaymas, to a point where the Houston dropped anchor and Maguro conveyed the Cardenas felicitations after an exchange of salutes.

Capt. Maguro told Mr. Roosevelt that the Mexican president wished him well and hoped he would have the best of luck while fishing in Mexican waters.

The Mexican naval officer arrived aboard while church services were in progress and the formalities took place immediately after worship. The Houston came to anchor after an all night run from San Diego, averaging 21 knots. The sea was calm and a moderate southwest breeze was blowing.

CHARITY CASES GET U. S. AID IN SYPHILIS DRIVE

Washington, D. C., July 17.—(AP)—Government physicians said today that the major part of a new $3,000,000 fund for control of venereal diseases would be devoted to treatment of persons who could not pay for private care.

Members of the public health service's venereal diseases division said funds would be distributed to every state for use in buying medicines, establishing or aiding clinics, financing educational work, or paying salaries of persons engaged in control activities.

For these purposes $2,400,000 will be divided among the states, in the present fiscal year, on a basis of population, financial needs, and the extent of venereal disease.

The federal service is retaining $600,000 for the development of prevention, treatment, and control methods.

CHEERS GREET BRITISH KING ON RETURN TO BUCKINGHAM PALACE

LONDON, July 17.—(AP)—King Georg VI., fully recovered from an attack of gastric influenza, returned to Buckingham palace from Windsor today by automobile.

A cheering crowd greeted him at the gates of the palace. He was accompanied by Queen Elizabeth and their daughters.

The king and queen on Tuesday will leave on a visit to Paris.

DR. C. N. JOHNSON, DENTISTS' DEAN, DIES AT AGE 78

Heart Attack Ends Life of Noted Chicagoan.

Dr. Charles Nelson Johnson, known as the dean of dentistry, died yesterday afternoon in his home at 6118 Sheridan road. He was 78 years old.

Dr. C. N. Johnson.

Dr. Johnson had practiced dentistry in Chicago since 1885 and, despite his age, still did so up to the time he was stricken. Two weeks ago he was the guest of honor at the Pacific Coast Dental congress in Vancouver, B. C., and last Wednesday lectured in Kansas City. Saturday he had a heart attack at the summer home of his daughter, Mrs. J. R. Dewson, at Fox Lake, and was brought to his home here.

Received Many Honors.

Throughout his half century as a dentist he received every honor of his profession. He served as president of the American Dental association, of the Illinois State Dental association and of the Chicago Dental society. He was an honorary member of the dental societies from Japan to Uruguay, and had served as editor of the Journal of the American Dental association since 1925.

Dr. Johnson was born in Ontario. He received his dental training at the Royal College of Dental Surgeons in Toronto and the Chicago College of Dental Surgery. Since 1891 he had been dean of men and professor of operative surgery at the latter.

Published Books of Poems.

Although primarily a dentist, he was in wide demand as a lecturer. At one period he won considerable renown as a poet, slipping such books as "Poems of the Farm" in between professional writings like "Filling Teeth" and "Operative Dentistry."

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Dewson and Mrs. O. T. Carpentier, both of Chicago.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Church of the Atonement, 5749 North Kenmore avenue. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Working Agreement

SMITTY—THE NEW BOARDER

HARRIET HONORE, ONCE WEALTHY, DIES POOR AT 75

Reduced to Gifts and $26 Pension.

Mrs. Harriet Benham Honore, the widow of Harry H. Honore Jr., died yesterday in the home of a friend, Mrs. Carolyn Hunter, 1254 Lake Shore drive.

Although her marriage had united her to one of Chicago's wealthy families, she had been reduced to the gifts of friends and a $26 a month old age pension. She was 75 years old.

Loses Fight for Estate.

Mrs. Honore was married in 1908 to Mr. Honore, brother of the late Mrs. Potter Palmer, for many years Chicago's social leader. After his death in 1911 she conducted an unsuccessful legal battle against his relatives for a share of the Honore millions.

In 1915 she was associated with a number of Chicago women in the promotion of an oil company whose "petticoat management" attracted considerable attention. Men finally bought into the company, gained control, and ousted the all-woman directorate.

Friends said yesterday that she lost heavily in her oil enterprises.

Found Earning Own Living.

Little was heard of Mrs. Honore from that time until two years ago, when she was found earning a living as a house-to-house canvasser. Mrs. Hunter then gave her a home.

Friends said Mrs. Honore was born in Dutchess county, N. Y., the daughter of a rear admiral in the United States navy.

Funeral services will be tomorrow.

REV. R. A. JOHN, 79, DIES AT HIS POST IN LUTHERAN HOME

The Rev. R. A. John.

The Rev. Rudolph Augustus John, known to Chicago's German-American residents as "Pastor John," died yesterday in St. Paul's house, the Lutheran Evangelical old people's home he had headed for the last twelve years. He was 79 years old.

Pastor John was for forty years the minister of the old St. Paul's, mother church of all the Evangelical Lutheran churches in Chicago. He became pastor in 1886, when the church was at La Salle and Ohio streets. His work was credited with inspiring the building of the present church at Orchard and Kemper streets twelve years later.

In 1926 he retired from the pastorate to become managing director of the old people's home at 3831 Mozart street. Pastor John recently celebrated his sixtieth year in the ministry.

His widow, Mrs. Emelie John, and a daughter, Mrs. Claude A. Huck of Riverside, survive. Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow in St. Paul's house chapel.

BOMB SLAYER OF 3 PERSONS DIES IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Bellefonte, Pa., July 18 [Monday].—(AP)—Michael Fugmann, 54 years old, who preferred death to a lifetime in prison, died early today in the electric chair at Rockview prison for the Luzerne county "Easter gift" bomb slayings of three persons on Good Friday, 1936.

Fugmann, a former German world war veteran who found employment in the Pennsylvania coal mines, protested his innocence at his trial, but refused to sign his attorney's appeal to the board of pardons, declaring that the board could only grant him a life term. He was convicted of sending bombs concealed in cigar boxes to Thomas Maloney, former president of a defunct mine union. Maloney was killed, as was his son Bobby, and Michael Gallagher, aged cemetery sexton.

GROVER CLARK, EXPERT ON FAR EAST, DIES AT 46

Charlottesville, Va., July 17.—[Special.]—Dr. Grover Clark, 46 years old, of the University of Denver, died tonight at the University of Virginia hospital. He suffered a heart attack on Friday night. With him when he died was his wife, the former Kathryn Bird of Chicago.

Dr. and Mrs. Clark arrived here last Sunday to attend a meeting of the institute of public affairs. Mrs. Clark will leave tomorrow for Chicago, where Dr. Clark will be buried. The Clarks have a son and daughter.

Dr. Clark was born in Osaka, Japan. His parents were missionaries. He was a specialist on far eastern affairs. He was publisher of the Peking [China] Leader, English newspaper, for twelve years.

2 MARINE CORPS RESERVE UNITS BEGIN TRAINING

The 9th battalion of the organized marine corps reserves encamped yesterday at the Great Lakes Naval Training station for two weeks of training. The battalion is under the command of Maj. H. M. Keller. Also at the camp is the 16th battalion from Indianapolis. Their training will be directed by Lieut. Col. Roy Swink.

At Fort Sheridan 165 officers of the anti-aircraft coast artillery reserves yesterday completed two weeks of active duty, during which they were instructed in handling anti-aircraft guns.

RETIRED FURNITURE DEALER DIES.

Surviving are two brothers and two sisters.

Lawrence Ryan.

Lawrence Ryan, 63 years old, captain of the guards at the Pontiac reformatory and one-time acting warden of the Joliet prison, died yesterday in his home, 7525 Yale avenue. He had been ill six months. Capt. Ryan was an official in the state prison system for twenty years. His widow, two sons, and two daughters survive. Funeral services will be held in St. Carthage Catholic church at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday.

Miss Leila Sloan.

Miss Leila Sloan, a teacher in the Brainard elementary school for 45 years, died yesterday in her home at 739 Buckingham place. She was 65 years old. She leaves her mother, Mrs. W. H. Sloan, and a brother, Charles, past commander of the Advertising Men's post of the American Legion. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today in the chapel at 1253 North Clark street.

Dr. Ernest Lyon.

Baltimore, Md., July 17.—(AP)—Dr. Ernest Lyon, 68 years old, former United States minister to Liberia and Liberian consul general in the United States since 1911, died of pneumonia today at the Johns Hopkins hospital. The Negro clergyman was appointed by President Theodore Roosevelt in 1903 and served as minister until 1911.

Miss Winifred E. Jones.

Miss Winifred E. Jones, 79 years old, who was a teacher in the Chicago public schools for more than half a century, died yesterday in her home, 152 South Hamlin avenue. She is survived by a sister, Miss Eva M. Jones. Funeral services will be held at 5708 Madison street at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Three Accused of Passing $500 in Worthless Checks

Three young men, charged with passing more than $500 in worthless checks, were arrested yesterday by Detective Lawrence Smalley of the Englewood station. They are Herman Lessentein, 20 years old, 6551 South Union avenue; John Forrester, 19, 6517 South Peoria street, and Robert Burns, 18, 3552 West 64th street. The checks were cashed by merchants in the vicinity of 63d and Halsted street.

DAVID M. AVERILL, MOTOR BUILDER WITH NASH, DIES

Racine, Wis., July 17.—(AP)—David Merrill Averill, 59 years old, former general manager of Racine and Kenosha plants of Nash-Kenvinator corporation, died at his home here early today.

D. M. Averill.

Averill, who retired a year ago, began as a clerk with the Durant-Dort Carriage company and became its vice president and general manager. He spent a year helping organize the Chevrolet company, and in 1924 became associated with C. W. Nash as general manager of the Nash Motor Car company.

Averill was born in Otisville, Mich., one of seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson Averill. Later he lived at Lansing and Flint, Mich. Survivors are his widow, Mabel; two daughters, Nancy and Jean; a brother, George, of Detroit, and two sisters, Mrs. George Mallon of Grant Falls, Mich., and Mrs. William Birch, Coleman, Mich.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday.

ATTORNEY TAKES GELLERMANN TO TASK ON LEGION

Prof. William Gellermann of Northwestern university addressed the Young People's society of the First Methodist church of Evanston last night on his recently published book which described the American Legion as incipiently fascistic.

When he had finished his formal address Attorney Dean Lake Traxler, former chairman of the Legion's Americanism committee for Illinois, rose in the audience.

"One statement in your book," he said, "I know to be false. I was a member of the national committee in 1924 that passed a resolution urging every post to perform an outstanding public service yearly. I presented the resolution and I know there was no selfish motive, as the book said."

The professor said he could cite many instances to show the Legion policy of cultivating public favor was based on the hope of getting returns, "such as passing the bonus bill." He also asserted he was not critical of the Legion rank and file, but only of the "kingmakers."

The meeting was hastily adjourned by the chairman shortly afterward.

MAYTAG REJECTS PLAN OF ARBITRATORS TO END TEN WEEK STRIKE

Newton, Ia., July 17.—(AP)—The Maytag Washing Machine company tonight rejected the recommendations of Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel's arbitration board for settlement of the factory's ten week C. I. O. union strike.

C. I. O. union members accepted the terms of settlement at a mass-meeting here today. The recommendations provided for resumption of work for 60 days at the old wage scale and pay reductions up to 10 per cent if no agreement is reached during the negotiation period. The board also ruled against a closed shop and the checkoff.

C. I. O. union members walked out May 9 when the company proposed a 10 per cent pay cut. The scale had averaged 84 cents an hour, according to company officials.

Team Runs Away; Wrecks Buggy and Ruins Harness

Pana, Ill., July 17.—[Special.]—Pana had its first horse runaway in twenty years last evening when a team owned by James Henderson, a farmer of the New Hope community, broke loose on a busy street here. The horses were caught after wrecking their harness and the buggy to which they were hitched.

Ravinia Crowd Bids Conductor Hearty Goodby

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra and a moderate sized Ravinia park audience joined forces yesterday afternoon to bid Willem Van Hoogstraten a cordial farewell. He is the spare Dutchman who has served as guest conductor for the four concerts of the Ravinia festival's third week.

The farewell took the form of a noisy fanfare, a standing tribute, a vast amount of hand clapping, and a little cane pounding. The immediate cause of the demonstration was a terrific performance of Glière's "Russian Sailors' Dance." The conductor's intense nervous energy found in this little piece ample outlets in the shape of physically exciting rhythmic effects and a final fortissimo chord which must have chased every bird out of the park.

The program which led up to this happy climax offered the D minor symphony of Schumann as its principal item. A young, glowing work, so headlong and so charged with feeling that its themes seem to be straining often at the fetters of tonality and form with which man has bound music and to be seeking a freer, more primitive expression of their own—the symphony received at Mr. Van Hoogstraten's hands a performance which highlighted its passion and its lyricism and its youthful, glorious changeableness.

Preceding the Schumann was Gluck's "Iphigenia in Aulis" overture. The presentation of the little piece emphasized its clean, classical qualities. Tonal effects were austere, melodic lines serene and contained.

Opening the modern group which was to end with the "Sailors' Dance," Mr. Van Hoogstraten offered reticent Mr. Ravel's "Le Tombeau de Couperin," four little pieces vaguely in 17th century style, but possessed of a pungency and an unexpectedness [harmonic and melodic both] which stamp them as a work of the 20th.

"Clouds" and "Festivals," done with the restraint which the first enforces, but which the second leaves, in part at least, to the taste and intuitive understanding of the conductor, constituted the afternoon's bow in Debussy's direction. The Dubensky Fugue for Eighteen Violins, a difficult tour de force, found the fiddlers of the orchestra quite able to cope with its complexities and to come out exactly even at the end.

With yesterday's concert the 1938 Ravinia festival reaches its half way mark. Eugene Goossens, conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, comes next Thursday for a four concert stay.

Sally to Invite 100 Boys and Girls to Be Guests at Sox Game

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Here's your golden opportunity, young White Sox fans!

On Thursday, July 28, 100 boys and girls will have a chance to go with me to Comiskey park to see the Sox play Boston. I know how much you boys and girls love baseball and so, of course, I was delighted when Mr. Comiskey promised to play host.

As usual, I want to select as my guests the youngsters who'll enjoy the party most. I can't judge that unless you tell me, and the best way to tell me is by writing a letter. You're all anxious to see your favorite players, so just sit down and tell me about it.

Be sure to include your full name, address, and age in your letter. Have your letter on my desk by next Thursday morning at the latest. I'm going to read all the mail then, and I'll choose as winners the boys and girls I think are most sincerely anxious to see the game.

The names of the fortunate boys and girls who win invitations will be printed in next Sunday's TRIBUNE. Remember, each child must write his or her own letter—and please don't say "My friend Sally, who lives next door, would like to come, too. I hope we both win." If Sally wants to come tell her to write a letter and send it in with yours.

I'll tell you more about our party tomorrow, but you don't have to wait to write your letter and send it to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Within a few weeks Miss Katherine Carr and her fiance, Robert Henze of Innsbruck, Austria, will be climbing mountains in the Dolomites, for that is what they are going to do on their wedding trip. Miss Carr, elder daughter of George Russell Carr, and Mr. Henze will be married at 6:30 o'clock next Saturday evening at St. Chrysostom's church, with a reception and dinner for the family following at the Saddle and Cycle club, where they were swimming on Saturday. They will live in London.

Steindel Leads Well Selected Park Program

BY CECIL SMITH.

Returning to the band shell for his second appearance of the summer, Walter H. Steindel conducted his orchestra in a well selected program at Grant park last night. Gertrude Ackerly, soprano, served as assisting soloist for the first time this season. A large audience listened to the music with praiseworthy intentness.

Mr. Steindel's choice of music covered an interesting range, without straining the appreciative faculties of the audience beyond the breaking point. In addition to three Wagner compositions—the overtures to "Tannhäuser" and "Die Meistersinger" and "The Ride of the Valkyries"—he listed the second of the two excellent suites of incidental music written by Bizet for Daudet's "L'Arlésienne," Saint-Saëns' "The Spinning Wheel of Omphale," Haydn Wood's "Virginia," Johann Strauss' "Artist's Life" waltz, and the Polovtzian dances from Borodin's "Prince Igor." Miss Ackerly sang "Depuis le jour," from Charpentier's "Louise," and the Italian Street Song from Victor Herbert's "Naughty Marietta."

Many listeners were probably surprised to find the Bizet music extremely familiar in other contexts. The second movement of the suite, an intermezzo, has had fitted to it the sacred liturgical "Agnus Dei" text. Both the minuet and the closing farandole are traditionally interpolated into the last act of "Carmen" to serve as ballet music. [Private note to Pierre André, Grant park's affable announcer: Alexandre César Léopold Georges Bizet is known to the world as Georges, not as Alexandre.]

Mr. Steindel's assured and resourceful musicianship was unfailingly in evidence throughout the concert. Nowhere was it called for in greater degree than in the accompaniment to Miss Ackerly's performance of "Depuis le jour." For all the purity and clarity of her upper tones, this promising singer is in need of stern musical discipline, especially in matters of rhythm. She will also find singing much easier when she uncovers and lightens her middle voice.

As a special pre-concert feature tonight Frankie Masters' popular orchestra will play half an hour of swing music at Grant park from 7:30 to 8. The regular concert, beginning at 8, brings forward Glenn Cliffe Bainum's band; Lilyan Sacks, soprano, and David Bennett Jr., pianist.

Cardinal Mundelein Lays Corner Stone of Church in Oak Park

In the presence of more than 3,000 persons, Cardinal Mundelein yesterday officiated at the laying of the corner stone of the new St. Giles church, Columbian and Greenfield avenues, Oak Park.

The Rev. John F. Brown, pastor of St. Malachy church, traced the growth of the St. Giles parish. Eleven years ago there was only a handful of parishioners, he said. A temporary frame building served as the church. In contrast, he mentioned, the new one, of modern Italian style, will cost $175,000.

Among those who assisted in the ceremonies were Msgr. Robert C. Maguire, Msgr. William Cummings, and Msgr. Dennis J. Dunne. The Rev. Patrick Hayes was master of ceremonies. The Rev. Lawrence Frawley is pastor of St. Giles.

Smart Linens Among Best of Summer Frocks

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The stores and shops have many things to interest the midsummer shopper. The annual summer sales offer unmatched bargains. And in addition there are the new early fall hats, costume accessories to revive a wilted wardrobe, vacation specials that seem delightfully crisp, new, and unusual. You can find all sorts of good beach loot, whether you dip or park, and all types of active sports outfits as well as prize collections of spectator sports costumes.

Simple but smart dresses are legion; they arrive daily and each collection outdoes the last. Line is everything. A dashing simplicity marks the best. The materials are cool, washable, and crisp. Linens, plain or with a suggestion of a homespun weave, steal the show. Impeccably tailored sheaths of white or pastel colored linen do excellent duty for any sort of a summer day. These models have pockets, tricky details [such as slot seams], wide flat pressed plaits, unusual necklines, brief sleeves, and just the right dash of restrained color contrast in a narrow band or two. These linens are sleek, sophisticated, and just what you need to impress your public.

Colored linens are available in stunning copper tones, in dull blues, blacks, and raspberry, as well as cool cypress green. For the most part, these simple dresses are straight, uncluttered by detail, and made of the newest pet of the appreciative dress designers—uncrushable linen.

Natural linen makes superlatively smart daytime dresses for office or town wear as well as snappy active sports clothes. Lacy weaves are used for tops and the slim skirts are made of smooth, plain stuff the same shade as the top. Linen cartwheels, linen sandals, linen handbags complete the ideal, practical as well as decoratively smart summer costume. And the prices are right for the limited clothes allowance.

Plan 2d Tour of Barrington Gardens Aug. 5

BY JUDITH CASS.

BARRINGTON Country Home and Garden day is what the Garden Club of Barrington is calling a garden tour it will give from 2 until 6 o'clock the afternoon of Friday, Aug. 5. The club gave a similar party last summer, a motor tour through some of the largest estates of the village.

This year's program will be different from last year's, however, for at each of the homes that will be opened there will be also special flower arrangements and table settings done by Garden club members. For instance, an early American table will be set in the dining lodge on Mrs. Alfred L. Eustice's property, where the wild life preserve, bird sanctuary, and lily pond will be opened to the public for the afternoon.

A luncheon table will be the especial feature at Mrs. Andrew Dahlstream's home, which will be on the visitors' list. The garden will be the chief attraction at Mr. and Mrs. C. Harlan Canby Jr.'s home, and Mrs. H. B. Ryan will show her picnic grill, terrace, and veranda, decorated with special flower arrangements.

Mrs. Robert Work, who is president of the club, will set two tables, a garden one, under a thorn apple tree, and a colonial dining table in her home. Besides setting a formal dining table and showing off her formal gardens, Mrs. Frank A. Hecht Jr. will serve tea to all visitors on the terrace of her charming home.

Mrs. Hecht and Miss Elizabeth Howland are co-chairmen of Country Home and Garden day. The cost of the tour is $1. Mrs. Ryan is in charge of tickets, which will be sold at the entrance to any of the homes that will be open that day. Mrs. Frank Zuncker is in charge of tea arrangements.

Lake Forest Tea Guests to Stock Rummage Shop.

Every summer the directors of the White Elephant Rummage shop give a tea in Lake Forest to raise stock to be sold at the shop, which is conducted for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital. Miss Gwethalyn Jones is opening her home at 500 Green Bay road for this summer's tea, which is to be given Tuesday afternoon next week.

"The house and grounds and swimming pool are enchanting, you will see,
And we think it safe to promise that you'll have a cup of tea.
There will be a famous wizard who, we promise you,
Will do many feats of magic which we know will interest you.
With this very pleasing program we are hoping to entice

In these lines Mrs. Samuel T. Chase described the party in the invitations the board has issued for the affair.

Admission to the tea is the gift of any unwanted household furnishings or clothes.

Aldis B. Hatch Jr. Takes Bride to Lake Geneva.

Additions to the Lake Geneva summer colony this summer are Aldis Brainerd Hatch Jr. and his bride, the former Miss Renée Anne Cecile Guy of Paris, France. They arrived in Lake Geneva yesterday after having stopped for a visit of a couple of hours with Mr. Hatch's mother, Mrs. Alice Barton Hatch, in Hinsdale. Mr. and Mrs. Hatch will occupy the guest cottage on the estate of Mr. and Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze for two months this summer. Mr. Hatch is a cousin of Mrs. Pelouze.

Mrs. Hatch was educated in Paris and Switzerland. She attended Miss Hall's school in Pittsfield, Mass., and was graduated from Sarah Lawrence college. Mr. Hatch has degrees from Princeton, the University of Chicago, the University of Heidelberg, and Yale university. In the fall Mr. Hatch and his bride will live in Oxford, Miss., where he has a professorship at the University of Mississippi. The Hatch-Guy wedding took place Friday in the Little Church Around the Corner in New York.

Good Morning!

Congratulations to the World Playhouse management who this week are celebrating a "Fifth Anniversary Week!" Everybody is being made to feel very, very welcome and each lady who enters the doors is presented with a red, red rose.

The picture featured? Well—it's elaborate, involved and awfully long. Quite the most ambitious offering to emerge from the French studios, I found it far too "arty" and difficult to follow. You really have to work, I'm telling you, to keep things straight in your mind.

Apparently they believe in making players toil for their money over in France. Note the number of characterizations presented by single persons.

Sacha Guitry's presence in the film will be of interest to those who follow the theater, for Monsieur Guitry, son of Lucien Guitry, one of the greatest actors of the French stage, is famous in his own right, both as player and playwright.

This, I believe, is his second film. His first, released in 1935, was "Bonne Chance," which he both directed and played in. The various rôles he portrays in "Pearls of the Crown" are magnificently turned out. . . . Other outstanding characterizations are provided by Lyn Harding, Percy Marmont—remember him?—Barbara Shaw and Arletty.

The story, episodical, related in French, English and Italian, and with English titles, is concerned with the history of four pearls in the English crown. . . . Many historical figures are rung in and, finally, you follow present day, characters in a search for three missing pearls. This part just about wears you out.

Staging and costumes are authentic and interesting and several scenes that border on the risque slightly relieve the monotony.

But as entertainment—especially summer entertainment—"Pearls of the Crown" just ain't.

See you tomorrow.

SYNOPSIS.

On board the S. S. Panama Queen, sailing from Los Angeles to New York via Panama, are Anne Sydney, who has a part in a Broadway play, and her crippled and embittered sister, Mena; Arnold Vernon, elderly rich English motion picture producer, and his coldly beautiful wife, Claire; Isobel Butler, who has a stateroom next to the Vernon suite and hopes to get in pictures through him; Alex Reed, young surgeon returning to work after two years' illness, and gossipy Mrs. Panting. Isobel meets and arouses Vernon's interest. Anne and Alex are mutually attracted. Mena spitefully tells Alex that Anne is a heartless flirt. Pride causes Anne to hold herself aloof from him. Dr. Neil Andrews, a friend of Alex's, joins the ship in Mexico. He wants to get married and thinks Anne meets his ideals. Isobel and Arnold Vernon fall in love. He tries to buy his freedom from Claire.

INSTALMENT XXV.

AN INTIMATE TALK.

THE NINTH DAY.

The ship sailed at six in the morning, but her decks were crowded. Anne scanned the people as she walked forward hoping to meet Alex before she saw Neil. It seemed to her that all the passengers were up to see the passing of the locks except the Vernons and Mena.

No, there was no hope of chatting to Alex alone even for a few minutes. There he was but Neil was with him—both intent on Neil's camera and the beggars running along the lockside beside the rising ship.

Isobel caught up with her. "Say, Anne, hope you're not mad at me for being a little rough with your sister?"

Anne smiled at her with warm friendliness—"forget it. I'm sorry to say it's just what she needs. I only hope she didn't spoil your day for you."

"Of course she didn't. Come on let's see what the boys are doing. We ought to be in the picture——"

Alex made room for them at the rail, but Neil, on seeing Anne, promptly took her arm and went off with her. She went with him laughing. "Some people have all the luck," said Isobel ruefully. "It's a case all right. Wedding march and what have you."

"O, I don't suppose it'll get as far as that. You know what these ship flirtations are——"

Neil was already at the small table when Alex sat down. "Alex," he said, "I wonder if you'd change with Anne. Then you could sit with your pal Isobel."

Sounded as if Isobel was right. "First I want to talk to you, Neil. Not here. It's something rather intimate and important——"

They were silent as they ate, Alex full of his own thoughts. Neil a little anxious, anticipating what was coming. He drained his coffee and set down the cup . . . "all right, Alex. Let's go up to my quarters and get it over."

She seemed to be waiting for him to say something.

Alex sat down on the wicker chaise longue on Neil's private veranda. The ship was passing between the green banks of the canal now, so close that all the rich vegetation was clearly visible. "You don't spend much time in this choice secluded spot," said Alex. "It's wasted on you."

"I've given Anne the freedom of the suite but she won't come here." Neil lit a cigaret and settled himself into a chair. "Now let's have it, Alex. What's on your mind?"

"Phyllis Leslie. In case you don't remember, the brown eyed blonde girl you rushed on the trip to Bermuda."

"Good God—do you think I could forget. What a hell of an experience!"

"I don't want to dig up unpleasant memories, Neil, in order to reproach you. I just wanted to be sure you weren't doing the same thing to Anne Sydney——"

Neil chewed on his lip and looked out at the moving green walls. "That way about her yourself, aren't you?"

"I like her very much. I spent enough time with her to realize the fundamental depth of her nature before you came on board. She's not the girl to love and leave, Neil."

"I'm quite aware of it. I'm going to marry her."

"So you're keeping your engagement a secret?" Alex's voice was harsh with his effort to keep it even.

"Nothing fixed yet. I've asked her at least twelve times. The stumbling block is this mania she has about her career."

Alex was conscious of a wild relief. "It's no mania. The girl has genius."

Neil's tone was acrimonious. "When did you ever see her act?"

"Not necessary. I can see the flame that lights her personality."

Neil laughed. "Poor Alex. I said you were that way."

"You mean you can't see the thing for yourself?"

"Of course not. She's just a darned attractive lively girl. And all the better for us when we're married. But no wife of mine is going to waste her time and energy on the stage."

Alex knew that Neil was tired of the conversation—on the verge of disliking him for it. But he ignored Neil's anxiety to get away. "Have you told her this? Have you made it clear to her what you are asking for when you ask her?"

"I should say not," said Neil savagely. "I know how to handle my women. I don't charge into their pet illusions like a mad bull at a gate——"

"Not before you get them behind the gate, you don't. Come now, Neil, be honest with her. Let her know before she gets in deep that you're going to ask her to give up the stage——"

Neil suddenly changed his mood. He slapped Alex violently on the back. "Let's snap out of it. You've been taking moonlight confidences too seriously. After all, she can say no if she doesn't like the terms. But this isn't the time to tell her about them. It's when I've got her where I want her——"

"Love is one easy lesson," said Alex sardonically. Neil led the way out through his luxurious little drawing room.

Alex saw Anne by herself for a moment watching the passage of Gatun lake during the progress of the morning. He said impulsively—"I wonder if you'd come ashore with me this afternoon?"

Her face lighted, but the swift expression was gone in a second. "But I've promised Neil. Why not come with us?"

"I'd rather not. What about Havana?"

"Yes, I'm free." She was careful not to show her delighted eagerness. "I would like to come."

"Right. That's a promise, Anne."

"It's a promise."

She seemed to be waiting for him to say something—there was an odd electric feeling in the air. He said without his own volition, probably because it was so much in his mind—"tell me something, Anne. That swell career of yours, would you give it up for something you considered very important?"

She stared at him with amazement. "You heard what I told you, Alex. There isn't anything that important."

"Good. I'm glad you realize it. Be a sensible girl and don't weaken. A gifted woman has as much right as a man to have fulfilment as well as marriage in her life."

He saw perplexity in her face and then an indefinable coldness as if her heart had shut against him. "You're warning me against something, aren't you?"

"Perhaps I am."

"It's all right, Alex. I know." She turned her gaze to the fringed borders of the lake and the lush green islands swooning in the heat.

Claire over-ruled the ship's surgeon's advice that a quiet afternoon on deck would be better for her husband than to go ashore at Colon and Cristobal. "I want to see this place, Arnold. I've heard it's a melting pot of races—an experience nobody ought to miss. And I don't want to go ashore alone. Do you really feel so very unwell?"

"No. I feel fine. I want to go ashore myself."

Claire dropped a kiss on the top of his head. "It'll do you good, dear. Cooped up like this—you need a little change——"

Her dressing finished, she looked in the wallet in her smart gray bag. "Money, Arnold? I shall need lots," she said brightly.

He took out his own wallet and gave her a thick roll of bills. "I'll give you more if you need it, but the stuff you can buy here is cheaper in New York. I wouldn't spend too much."

Sports Achieve New Lines for the Silhouette

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

With outdoor sports calling, you can take a vacation from your regular setting up drills. The more you enjoy exercise, the more good it does you. Your may even suit your sport to your figure needs.

Swimming is splendid all 'round exercise. It takes off the fat and puts on flesh where you need it most. The breast stroke is especially good for broadening a narrow chest. The crawl and the overhand, too, will fill in hollows and plump up your neck. The scissors kick is splendid to reduce your hips and thighs. It will strengthen the ankles and arches of your feet, too.

Fancy diving will aid your posture and encourage grace and symmetry.

Canoeing will build up weak shoulder muscles and make it easier for you to stand erect. It stretches and strengthens abdominal muscles, too. Of course, we don't mean you can do it by sitting on cushions and letting some one else do the paddling!

Horseback riding exercises your whole body. The rhythmic jog of a horse teaches you relaxation. It limbers up that tension that hinders a graceful and easy bearing. You can't sit on a horse properly unless you do relax. Holding the reins makes the hands supple and strong.

Cycling reduces the hips. If you are an amateur be sure to avoid roads with heavy trafic.

Tennis stretches and limbers the torso. The perspiration it induces removes the poisons from your body and makes your skin healthier.

A bout with the medicine ball on the beach develops arms and wrists. Golf gives you much needed walking. It has the advantage of using wrists, arms, and shoulders in a swing that sends the ball far.

Mountain hiking will do much more for you than walking on city streets. Fishing—well, fishing will teach you patience and relaxation, although casting for mountain trout will make your wrists flexible.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Seems to be a banner year for mosquitoes. We've engaged in combat with a few ourselves and from the wails of the Ravinlagoers and the landed gentry round and about we gather that the little pests are making life miserable for a lot of people.

This is to remind you that there is a mosquito repellent to be found on several of the town's cosmetic counters. It's good, too, with no horrible odor or messiness.

It's labeled a "mosquito cream" and it really does foil those fiends in insect form. You spread it on lightly, rub it in well to the exposed area, and then forget about it. The mosquitoes, in turn, will forget you're a meal ticket.

This cream can be used any time, day or evening, and in the bright sunlight. The cream vanishes, doesn't make the skin look a bit oily, and has rather a nice odor—clean and fresh. There is none of the odor of the time honored citronella. Men can use it without any fear of being perfumed or creamed up.

Fortunately it is fairly inexpensive. Whole families can use it. Its makers say that it is a sunburn protective, too. We haven't tested it for this, but people we've asked to try it out as a mosquito repellent give us excellent reports. ELEANOR NANGLE.

nounced the engagement of their daughter, Jean Murray, to Sewall Bartlett Howard, son of Mrs. Constance Howard of San Francisco. Miss Stirton and Mr. Howard met a few months ago on a trip to Australia and Thursday he flew here from San Francisco to be present when the engagement was announced. He left yesterday for his home in the west.

Miss Stirton attended the Girls' Latin school and studied with Mrs. John Storrs at Mr. and Mrs. Storrs' French château at Blois, in Touraine. Mr. Howard was educated at the Montezuma school, Stanford university, and the University of Southern California.

Bayne O'Brien and Bride Return from Honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayne O'Brien [Ellen Bull] have returned from their wedding trip around the Great Lakes and have taken an apartment in Highland Park. Mrs. O'Brien's sister, Miss Sally Bull, is planning to go to California in a week or two to visit Miss Josephine Wallace, who is spending the summer in Santa Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Applegate, who were married on June 4, returned last week from a honeymoon in Honolulu. They are staying at the Whitehall while their home at 1433 State parkway is being remodeled. Mrs. Applegate is the former Miss Julia Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Cates, former Winnetkans now living in New York, are visiting the Donald F. McPhersons and seeing old friends. The McPhersons gave a luncheon yesterday for Mr. and Mrs. Cates. The Edwin Clarks are giving a dinner tonight for Mrs. Cates, and the William B. Hales are giving one tomorrow for her.

In Saturday's mail were announcements from the Woman's Symphony orchestra of the dates, guest artists, and conductors for its winter season, which opens on Tuesday, Oct. 25. Izler Solomon will be the guest conductor that night and Igor Gorin, baritone, will sing.

Gladys Welge will conduct the next concert, on Tuesday, Nov. 29. Evelyn Levin Davis, violinist, will be the guest artist. Mr. Solomon will conduct the final concert on Jan. 10, with Winifred Christie, pianist, who uses a double keyboard, as guest artist.

Francis P. Butlers and Daughter Going East.

The Francis P. Butlers and their daughter, Miss Judy Butler, are going east Wednesday to visit Mrs. Butler's sister and brother-in-law, the Robert Donners of Buffalo, at their summer home in Oyster Harbor, Mass.

Mrs. John Andrews King and her sister and brother-in-law, the Charles S. De Longs, and their families, have gone to Bear Island in Penobscot bay, Mass.

The Joseph B. Flemings and their daughters, Miss Lily, Jean Alice, and Mrs. Norman L. Cram; Mr. Cram, and Norman Jr. have left for Camp Wipigaki, Lac du Flambeau, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald K. Welles have gone to Desbarats, Ont. Mrs. Arthur Dixon is there, visiting the Hermon D. Smiths.

Mrs. George Hansen and her daughter, Kalinka, are at the Walker camp in Desbarats until Aug. 1.

Miss Ethel Husband is leaving this week for New York and Boston and other eastern points to be away until September, visiting friends.

Virginia Ballard Leaves Today for Wisconsin Visit.

Miss Virginia Ballard of Winnetka is leaving today for Wausaukee, Wis., to visit Miss Jane Bulger at the summer home of Miss Bulger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Bulger.

Mr. and Mrs. Allyn Warren are occupying their cabin at the Wausaukee club in Wisconsin for the rest of the summer.

The board of directors of the Arden Shore association is holding open house today at the camp in Lake Bluff. All friends of the camp are invited to bring their own picnic luncheons to the party and to eat out of doors, under the trees, if the weather is nice. Coffee and tea will be served by the camp. The camp's cottages and buildings will be open for inspection and the mothers, children, and grandmothers now at the camp will give a program for the guests.

Today's Features

ON W-G-N.

Margery Mayer, young star of the opera and concert field, will make her debut as a regular staf artist on the W-G-N audience studio program, Pageant of Melody, at 9:30 this evening. Miss Mayer, co-starring with Attilio Baggiore, operatic tenor, will be heard in the familiar "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" aria from "Samson and Delilah." Baggiore, with the orchestra and mixed octet, will offer "Lassie o' Mine," "Lontananza" and a new and modern arrangement of "Dark Eyes." Michel Wilkomirski, violinist, will be heard in a solo selection from the "First Movement" of Tschaikowsky's famous violin concerto. The program will be under the direction of Henry Weber.

Marriage License Romances, with Quin Ryan interviewing couples applying for their licenses at Chicago's county building, will be aired over W-G-N at 2 p. m.

Another chapter in the adventurous life of Mr. Mergenthwirker and his invisible friends, the Lobblies, will be dramatized at 9 p. m.

Other features:

Quilt Expresses Scarlet Beauty of Poinsettias

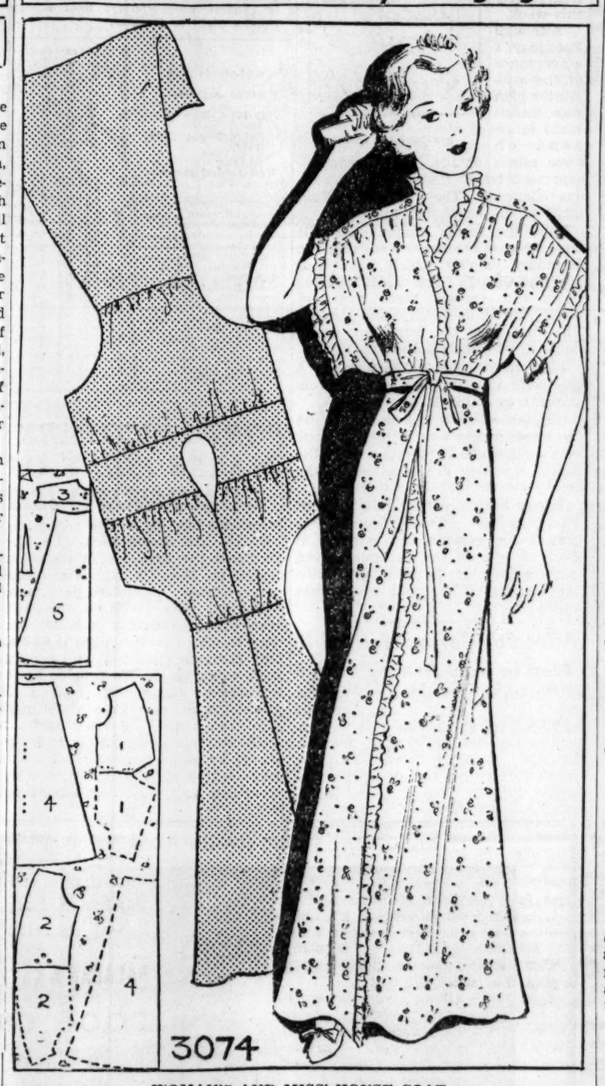
Poinsettia Spray.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Poinsettia Spray" is a gay little applique design which was created many years ago in South Carolina, the home of J. R. Poinsett, who discovered the beautiful little plant. The scarlet of the flower and the deep green of the leaves create a striking combination for a quilt, and one suitable for any type of colonial or French provincial furniture. The finished block is large, measuring 17½ inches square. Only twelve blocks are required for a single coverlet. These are set together with 5½ inch bands and surrounded with an 11½ inch border. Simple one inch cross bar quilting is used on this block, after the flowers have been done in outline.

Cool and Summery Negligee



WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOUSE COAT.

Even in the hottest weather the housewife must be crisp and immaculate. This is difficult if her negligees are of winter material and a bit on the heavy side. What she needs is a variety of sheer, washable, cool as a cucumber house coats to see her through the season. We're offering a pattern today which should be the perfect answer to this problem. The pattern is so easy to use that every woman may employ it for several negligees in different fabrics. The V neckline, large dolman sleeves, and entire front may be edged in lace or ruffling, the kind that takes kindly to tubbing. Around the waist is a narrow sash which fits the garment to the figure.

All the cotton sheers and some of the nontransparent fabrics, too, make up beautifully. Perhaps it would be an excellent idea to fashion this house coat of gingham, percale, or piqué, since then you would not have to wear a princess slip beneath it. The daintily patterned voiles and chiffons are, of course, extremely fashionable and feminine.

Style No. 3074 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material, with 4⅞ yards of ruffling.

BY MARY MEADE.

Here are some hot day coolers that aren't just run of the mine summer drinks. Each has some claim to distinction which should qualify it for party service, if need be.

Grape Buttermilk Punch.

[Serves Four.]

½ cup grape juice
¼ cup lemon juice
1 quart buttermilk
¼ cup fine [powdered] sugar

Combine fruit juices with buttermilk. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Chill and pour into tall glasses.

[Serves Four.]

3 squares chocolate
¼ cup sugar
1 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons brown sugar
3 cups milk
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
Whipped cream or ice cream [optional]

Melt chocolate over hot water. Caramelize the sugar in a heavy sauce pan by heating slowly until melted and light brown. Add boiling water and stir over heat until the sugar dissolves. Add to melted chocolate and stir over hot water for several minutes. Add brown sugar, milk, salt, and vanilla. Stir until thoroughly blended. Chill and serve in tall glasses. Top with whipped cream or a scoop of ice cream, and garnish the topping with a raspberry or slice of other fruit.

DUTCH COOLER.

Combine equal parts freshly made cocoa and coffee, and add a fourth the amount of top milk or light cream. Mix well, add ice cubes or chipped ice, and shake until foamy.

Iced Russian Tea.

[Serves Six.]

3 tablespoons orange pekoe tea
¾ tablespoon whole cloves
3 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons candied orange peel, sliced
12 candied cherries
1 slice candied pineapple, sliced
3 tablespoons lemon juice
3 cups ice water

Pour boiling water over tea and cloves in strainer or bag. Add fruits and lemon juice, and let steep for five minutes. Remove tea and cloves, and add ice water. Pour over ice cubes in tall glasses.

The Housewife

Tray tables are handy little items in the summer time. They're convenient for afternoon snacks and for tea on the porch as well as for buffet meals. We saw the other day some most attractive ones that are sturdily made. The supports are of metal and the removable trays are of painted tin. One style has the tray in crimson with white handles on a white metal stand, and another has a yellow tray on a black metal base.

With these you can purchase smart little white wire baskets made to hold a half dozen or a dozen beverage glasses. Sets of them are gayly colored and are not a bit costly.

EDITH WEIGLE.

Give Children Full Benefit of Warm Months

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Snatch from summer every advantage you can for the children. If you live in the city and can get the children away where they have the utter physical freedom that country or seashore life means, do so. If you live in the city and cant' go away, try to get a vacation angle on life.

Stop being such a good housewife, for instance; you need a change yourself. Ease up on details and go for jaunts and picnickings just as often as you can. If you must mend or do hand sewing, or go over your bills and accounts, bundle the chore into one of those big, pretty, soft bags that are so cheap and hie yourself off with the children where you can sit under a tree, or near water, and work in leisurely fashion while they frolic. Better still, take a book and read or dream, as you please.

Don't always make your trips elaborate. Go for the day and pack a lunch sometimes. At other times go just for the morning or afternoon without the luncheon. You might take cookies and fruit or milk along. It's not only fun to eat them but it's much easier to get children home when they're not famished and a little limp.

Don't dress the children up to go. White is lovely, but lots of work, whether in clothes or shoes. Save on labor during the hot weather. Nothing is nicer on little feet than the brown moccasin oxford with a sturdy sole. Sun suits and plaids and khaki.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

There are at least two well known bridge writers whose chief delight seems to be the debunking of experts. A. Moyse, writing in the Bridge World magazine, makes these succinct observations: ". . . Speaking about these demi-gods [the experts] . . . they ain't! They not only have feet of clay, but heads with the normal wood content. Years ago, when John and Mary Doe played a brand of bridge that made the very table blush, the term 'expert' meant something. It meant that there was a vast chasm between the average player and those few gifted beings who really had a general idea of what they were doing. During the last five years, however, that chasm has closed up, until today a husky amoeba could jump it without a running start. What happened? It's pretty obvious, I think. John and Mary Doe got tired of being pushed around and patronized by 'experts,' and caught up to them! O, not quite, I grant. But it is an indisputable fact that the rank and file has moved forward with enormous strides, while the expert has sat tight on his complacency, and not moved an inch."

And Frank Perkins, another bridge columnist, gleefully offers two hands from the recent Masters' Individual tournament, which were "beautifully messed up by several experts." One hand appears below; the other will be presented tomorrow.

East, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

	NORTH ♠ K J 7 3 ♥ A K 10 8 ♦ Q 9 ♣ 9 4 2
WEST ♠ A 6 5 ♥ 7 5 3 2 ♦ K 7 6 5 3 ♣ 8		EAST ♠ Q 9 8 4 ♥ 6 4 ♦ 8 2 ♣ A K 10 5 3
	SOUTH ♠ 10 2 ♥ Q J 9 ♦ A J 10 4 ♣ Q J 7 6

The bidding:

East	Sorth	West	North
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 spade
Pass	Pass	Pass

West led the five of diamonds. Dummy's queen held and a club was led toward the closed hand. East ducked and the queen won. Declarer overtook his own jack of hearts, to lead another club from dummy. This time East put up the king and West failed to follow. East returned a diamond and declarer, to clear the suit, ducked, losing to West's king. It was clear to West that diamonds were hopeless, so he returned the five of spades. Declarer went into quite a huddle with himself, and finally let the lead ride to his own ten. East won with the queen, cashed the club ace, and returned a spade to West's ace for the setting trick.

Declarer mumbled something about a tough guess in spades but, as Mr. Perkins points out, there had been no guess whatever! East, who had passed originally, had been found to hold five clubs to the ace-king. Surely it was out of the question that he would have passed if he also had held the spade ace. That card, then, was located in West's hand, and all declarer had to do was mentally review the bidding and go up with dummy's spade king when West led the five spot. The contract then would have been a laydown.

Tomorrow's Hand

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	NORTH ♠ K Q 8 6 ♥ Q 10 5 ♦ A K Q 5 ♣ 8 4
WEST ♠ A 7 ♥ K J 8 7 6 ♦ 8 7 ♣ K Q 5 2		EAST ♠ 10 9 4 2 ♥ 4 3 ♦ 10 6 3 ♣ J 10 7 6
	SOUTH ♠ J 5 3 ♥ A 9 2 ♦ J 9 4 2 ♣ A 9 3

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

MANUAL LABOR ON CURRICULUM AT NORTHLAND

College Head Praises Those Who Earn Way.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ashland, Wis., July 17.—[Special.]—In the history of most colleges of the middle west there is the record of pioneer struggle and growth toward a uniform, orthodox stability.

In Northland college, which looks out from this town upon wide horizons of sky-blue water, hills, and the remnants of the old pine forests which once stretched from Green Bay to Hudson, the pioneer stage still is in process.

The older, richer colleges of the south country may look here upon their own youth and it might be well, instead of sending missions to China and other far countries, if they reached out a helping hand in this direction.

College Still Pioneering.

Not only in its financial struggles, its small, bleak, inadequate but brave and hopeful outlook, is Northland still pioneering, but in the educational process itself, founded upon long experience with mentally hungry, poverty bound youth of the bush country, the college has something to say to the rest of the world. Its objectives are a liberal, Christian education, Americanization, and to give youth a chance to earn their own education.

In answer to the argument that manual labor by students interferes with their intellectual development, President J. D. Brownell of Northland, once a lumberjack himself, who made his own way through Northland academy, Ripon and Amherst colleges, has found after twenty years here that the student who earns his own way wins academic honors at graduation more frequently by 15 per cent than the student who does not have to earn his own way.

Many Denied College Education.

Fifty per cent of college students, it has been estimated by some authorities, have little business in college, while thousands who belong there are kept away for economic reasons.

At Northland they attempt to take all that come and help them to earn a large part of their expenses. They have to turn some away because there is no more work to be had. With an endowment of less than $200,000, depending on small gifts from many persons, the college cannot now expand to the limits of faculty and plant that would meet the needs of this region. The enrollment is 196, and there is need of a school that could take care of 300.

"The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them. And a highway shall be there and a way."

This is the motto of Northland, which is 250 miles from any other liberal arts college, and which, according to Dr. Floyd Reeves, professional adviser and appraiser of colleges, is in an ideal location with a view to the service it can render.

Produces Big Dividend.

"I know of no institution in America," Dr. Reeves adds, "where a dollar invested produces a larger dividend in young men and women trained for the social order."

Northland's distinction, that which gives it sure growth, is that it gives the only opportunity for education to a large number of vigorous, pioneer young people. It stands as the open door and would open that door wider.

Dr. Brownell advocates reorganization of curriculums to meet all-around equipment for life. He has introduced in his own college a unique required orientation course for freshmen in which they are given instruction in attitude, methods, department offerings, and vocational guidance.

"It is my conviction," he said, "that two of the most important lessons a college course can teach are the value of an hour of time; the value of a dollar."

ENDS LIFE AFTER TRIP TO HAWAII WITH HUSBAND

Mrs. Helen Smith, 28 years old, recently returned with her husband from a trip to Hawaii. Yesterday she wrote a note to him that they were "flat broke," drank poison, and died.

Walter, her husband, an X-ray technician in the Evanston hospital, awoke yesterday in their home at 625 Clinton place, Evanston, to find his wife unconscious. He took her to the hospital, where efforts to save her life were in vain.

Mrs. Smith left a second note to her parents in Los Angeles, Cal. Police said she wrote that the financial strain of the Hawaiian voyage and her father's ill health led to her action. She had been working for several weeks in a 5 and 10 cent store.

LOOP HOTEL BANDIT CAPTURED.

John Gonzales, 20 years old, a Mexican, was arrested yesterday in his room at 61 West Superior street as the bandit who held up the cashier in the Great Northern hotel grill Friday night and escaped with $165. He confessed police said.

Broker Dies in Leap

David D. Guild, 42 years old, a broker, was killed yesterday afternoon when he fell or jumped from the roof of Parkshore apartment hotel at 1755 East 55th street, where he resided. The body struck in a rock garden in a courtway.

Investigators were told by the widow, Mrs. Bertha Guild, that her husband suffered a nervous breakdown several months ago and had since been under a physician's care. Mrs. Guild added that he had left their apartment on the fourteenth floor after remarking that he was going to walk down to the lake. A note in one of his pockets asked that she be notified.

SWEDEN'S GOAL LASTING PEACE, PRINCE ASSERTS

St. Paul, Minn., July 17.—Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden today voiced a sincere hope for peace throughout the world upon his arrival in Minnesota with Princess Louise and Prince Bertil to participate in a two day Swedish tercentenary celebration.

The heir-apparent to the Swedish throne, interviewed shortly after his arrival here, said that "The Swedes are essentially a peace loving nation" as he emphasized that Sweden has not been engaged in war for 125 years. We hope and trust peace will be maintained throughout the world."

As the royal entourage stepped from the train after an overnight run from Chicago the party was greeted by Gov. Elmer A. Benson of Minnesota; C. F. Hellstrom, Swedish consul at Minneapolis, and Secretary of State Mike Holm.

CHURCHILL FILES LIBEL SUIT OVER ABDICATION ROW

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 17.—As a delayed aftermath of the abdication of King Edward VIII. of England, Winston Churchill has filed suit for libel against Geoffrey Dennis, the author of "Coronation Commentary," and against the publishers, William Heiremann, Ltd., it was learned tonight. Churchill was one of the duke of Windsor's advisers in the period before his abdication.

The book was recalled from circulation and all sales halted last year by the publishers as the result of a libel action filed by the duke of Windsor himself, who strongly objected to references to his American born duchess contained in the book.

Churchill's suit pending in the king's bench division, probably will not be heard until October.

APPROVE TREATY ENDING DISPUTE OVER GRAN CHACO

Bolivia and Paraguay May Sign New Pact Today.

BUENOS AIRES, July 17.—(AP)—Approval by both Bolivia and Paraguay of a peace accord to settle their century-old fight over the Gran Chaco today apparently assured formal signature of the treaty early this week.

Arrow points to port provided for Bolivia.

Although Paraguay's acceptance of the arbitration plan was understood to depend on some minor details, neutral sources expressed belief there were no serious obstacles. They said the document might be signed tomorrow.

Thus the second major step will have been taken toward settling the boundary dispute which has raged over the Chaco's "green hell" for 100 years and caused three years of bloody war in its swamps and jungles. The first was the armistice which ended the bloodshed June 14, 1935.

Next must come ratification by a plebiscite in Paraguay and the constituent assembly in Bolivia.

The boundary, it is believed, would be fixed somewhere within a zone varying from 30 to 80 miles wide, the limits of which are specified in the treaty but not yet fully disclosed.

It has been reported reliably that Paraguay has offered Bolivia free transit for exports and imports at Port Casado, on the Paraguay river, with permission to maintain Bolivian customs offices and warehouses there.

PORTO RICO PARK MARKS POINT OF COLUMBUS' VISIT

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, July 17.—To mark the area where Columbus landed on Nov. 19, 1493, Porto Rico today opened Columbus park, near Aguadilla. The site is on the Caribbean near the mouth of Culebrinas river in which tradition has it Columbus' caravels anchored to replenish their water casks. To provide better landscaping the mouth of the river was diverted and an athletic park now covers the old river bed. A temporary cross, ultimately to be replaced by a more pretentious monument, marks the only spot under the American flag where Columbus set foot.

COPENHAGEN, July 17.—On the twenty-eighth anniversary of his world renowned flight, Robert Svendsen, Danish pioneer aviator, drowned today when his boat capsized during a seal hunt near Samsoe. He was 54 years old. Svendsen flew across the Ore sund from Copenhagen to Malmo on July 11, 1910, and thus became the second aviator in the world—after Bleriot—to cross open water.

CUBS WIN TWO; DEAN HOLDS BEES TO 4 HITS

Stratton Coasts to Eighth Victory.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 17.—Monty Stratton pitched his eighth victory of the season today as the White Sox beat the Senators, 12 to 1. It was a classy number to put in the book inasmuch as it lifted the Sox into a won and lost tie for fifth place, an eminence they have not enjoyed in weeks and weeks. The Chicagoans remained in sixth place on the percentage column because the Tigers have played ten more games, losing five more than the Sox and winning five more.

The outcome, which gave the Sox the odd game of the three game series here, where they hadn't won a game before this trip, put the Sox up on opposition encountered on the present trip, six games to four. They split a four game series in Detroit and took two out of three in Philadelphia before being similarly successful here.

Sox Lather Kelley.

It was Zeke Bonura day in Griffith stadium and for four innings there was a possibility that Zeke might make a homer with somebody on base and put his team ahead. The Sox had made a run in the first on Boze Berger's double and a couple of grounders. And it was 1 to 0 until the Sox exploded a sack of bombs under Pitcher Harry Kelley in the fifth.

Kelley, some will remember, shut out the Sox, 12 to 0, in Chicago on June 21. They were eager to get even with Kelley on Bonura day. They made seven runs to do it in the big fifth. The rioting included singles by Luke Sewell, Stratton, Rip Radcliff, Luke Appling, and Marv Owen, with doubles by Hank Steinbacher and Mike Kreevich as sandwich filler. There also were bunts by Berger and Joe Kuhel that stirred up a lot of action inasmuch as there was a two base error on Berger's effort and Kuhel's was a squeeze.

Senators Get One.

A double by Rick Ferrell and a single by Pete Appleton, third Senator pitcher, spoiled Stratton's shut out in the seventh, after the Sox had scored in the first half on Radcliff's triple and the second of Appling's three run producing singles.

Just by way of rounding out their Bonura day outing the Sox scored three runs in the ninth on singles by Kreevich, Radcliff, and Appling, a pass by Kuhel and a single by Stratton, the same lifting the Sox hit total to 16.

The Senators made half that number off Stratton, though they produced only one-twelfth the number of runs.

The Sox left after today's game for Boston, where they will open a four game series against the Red Sox Tuesday. Jack Knott will pitch the opener. Lefty Lee and Yum Yum Whitehead will perform in a doubleheader Wednesday. Whitehead went into training today.

There was a shower just before the game and a cool breeze followed instead of the expected steam. This made 15,000 customers very happy.

The Senators are still up on the Sox on the season series, 8 to 5.

The Lido Civic club, an Italian-American organization, presented Zeke Bonura with an elegant silver plaque just before today's game. Though it was Bonura's day, Zeke didn't have a very happy time after the presentation. He finally got a single with two out and one on in the sixth, then was plucked off first on a snap throw by Luke Sewell.

35,623 See Chicago Climb to Third.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Jerome Herman [Dizzy] Dean, for ten weeks baseball's most illustrious invalid, returned to his work bench yesterday fairly staggering with health. The big boy forgot about the arm that had been useless since May 3 and pitched. The return on his comeback effort was a four hit, 3 to 1 Cub triumph over Boston's Bees in the first portion of a double header. Then, with the Dean performance as a pattern, Bill Lee reared back and fireballed the Cubs to another victory, 4 to 0, for their sixth in a row. The double triumph raised the Cubs to third place.

The official attendance was 35,623.

Dean, in his comeback job, which was forced on him because the doctor's rest treatment didn't seem to get the soreness out of his $185,000 arm, probably wasn't as free with his fire ball as he was in his better days. Maybe the light hitting tendencies of his opponents added to his impressiveness. Maybe the shirtsleeved background helped him. Nevertheless, he went nine innings, didn't weaken and didn't once, during the course of the nine inning journey, complain that his old misery had returned.

Not a Foe Walks.

Dizzy put so much into his work that he wouldn't even loosen up to the extent of one pass. The Bees seldom went to the trouble to wait him out. His control was too good to warant the risk. Four of the five men who got on had to hit their way there. The other survived as the result of Bill Jurges' dropping an easy popup in the second inning. This was the only Bee to reach base until the fifth when a pair of extra base drives gave the enemy their lone run of the game. This also was the only inning in which a Bee traveled farther than first base.

Dean, who unless complications arise in the problem arm, will take another whirl at actual labor four days hence, now can boast of pitching two complete games since the Cubs purchased him from the Cardinals on April 16. In his first appearance on April 20 in Cincinnati his arm forced him to retire after six innings. He won that one. On April 24 he went the route, shutting out his former Cardinals on four hits. Against the Reds in Chicago April 29 he withdrew with two out in the fourth. Then he quit after seven innings against the Phillies, also on the home field, on May 3, and went on vacation.

Dizzy Had to Labor.

Dean really had to exert himself because his companions were somewhat slow about giving him runs to work on. For four innings they were almost as helpless before Jim Turner as the Bees were before Diz. In the fifth Carl Reynolds and Phil Cavarretta came to Dean's rescue with the tying run. Then in the seventh Dizzy was presented with all he needed, two runs scoring because Frank Demaree and Rip Collins forgot their slumps long enough to hit extra base drives.

After his exhibition Diz just laughed off all inquiries about his arm. He said it pained him only once—on a fast ball which he threw while striking out Pinch Batter Maggert in the ninth.

Bill Gets Some Help.

Lee had Dean's hit mark bettered until the ninth, when the Bees let go with two safe drives. Lee, however, received outside assistance in attaining his eleventh decision of the season. Brilliant though he was in spots, as attested by seven strikeouts, three of which he fashioned in succession in one inning, Lee profited by sensational fielding dispensed, among others, by Bill Jurges with a couple of larcenous stops, Phil Cavarretta with a shoestring catch, and Rip Collins with any number of successful grabs of wayward throws.

Dancer or Coach—They Agree on This Trio for All-Star Squad

A veteran football official, an internationally known dancer, a famous major league manager, and the coach of the first College All-Star team cast ballots in THE TRIBUNE'S fifth annual nation-wide player poll yesterday.

The quartet's selections were notable for their unanimity in three positions. Each designated Charles Sweeney, Notre Dame end; Clint Frank, Yale's sensational ball carrier, and Corby Davis, crashing full back from Indiana, as deserving of a place in the lineup which starts the game against the Washington Redskins in Soldiers' field on the night of Aug. 31.

Kizer Picks Three Hooslers.

Noble Kizer, Purdue athletic director, who coached the All-Star team which played a scoreless tie with the Chicago Bears in 1934, sent his nominations from La Jolla, Cal., where he is convalescing from a long illness. Kizer, who is preparing to return to Purdue after a year's leave of absence, chose three of his backs from the state of Indiana, picking Cecil Isbell of Purdue and Andy Puplis of Notre Dame to assist Davis and Frank. Knowing the extraordinary requirements of the All-Star game, he believes this team can defeat the world champion Redskins. His selection:

TACKLES—Marty Schreyer, Purdue; Vic Markov, Washington.
GUARDS—Leroy Monsky, Alabama; Joe Routt, Texas A. and M.
CENTER—Alex Wojciechowicz, Fordham.
QUARTER BACK—Andy Puplis, Notre Dame.
HALF BACKS—Clint Frank, Yale; Cecil Isbell, Purdue.
FULL BACK—Corby Davis, Indiana.

Masker 25 Years a Referee.

Jim Masker, who refereed the first All-Star games, has been one of the country's leading officials for twenty-five years. In that time he has blown the whistle on some of the greatest football players of all time. It would please him, he said, to referee a full schedule for a team composed of:

ENDS—Charles Sweeney, Notre Dame; Ray King, Minnesota.
CENTER—Ralph Wolf, Ohio State.
QUARTER BACK—Byron White, Colorado.
HALF BACKS—Clint Frank, Yale; Sam Chapman, California.
FULL BACK—Corby Davis, Indiana.

Joe McCarthy, manager of the New York Yankees, who knows a mite about power, prefaced his ballot with the observation that "these fellows could go for those long ones," then preceeded to name two of the games most powerful backs, Fred Vanzo of Northwestern and Davis, and two of its fleetest and shiftiest ball carriers, Frank and White. He voted for:

ENDS—Charles Sweeney, Notre Dame; Perry Schwartz, California.
CENTER—Pat McCarty, Notre Dame.
QUARTER BACK—Fred Vanzo, Northwestern.
HALF BACKS—Clint Frank, Yale; Byron White, Colorado.
FULL BACK—Corby Davis, Indiana.

Veloz Ardent Football Fan.

TACKLES—Ed Franco, Fordham; James Isbell, Army.
GUARDS—Mike Calvano, Northwestern; Elliott Hooper, Cornell.
CENTER—Alex Wojciechowicz, Fordham.
QUARTER BACK—John Meek, California.
HALF BACKS—Clint Frank, Yale; Byron White, Colorado.
FULL BACK—Corby Davis, Indiana.

Balloting, which apparently will set a new all-time high, will continue until Sunday, July 24. No form is necessary to cast a vote. Merely write the name of eleven men, one for each position, on a sheet of paper and mail it to the All-Star Contest Editor, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago. Only players who completed their collegiate careers last year are eligible.

Chicago Open Offers the Fan Brilliant Golf—and a Seat

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Gallery facilities for the second annual Chicago open golf tournament, opening Friday morning at the Olympia Field club, will be the most efficiently managed ever seen in the district, if plans of the tournament committee are carried out. A field of 400 professionals and amateurs, including every leading player in the game, will begin play with eighteen holes Friday, followed by another eighteen on Saturday and the final thirty-six holes on Sunday.

With such a battalion of swingers as this it naturally will be difficult for the average spectator to keep in touch with scoring developments and to examine the swings of the stars. The selection of Olympia Fields, located only forty-five minues from the loop on the Illinois Central electric line, as the tournament site solved one problem for the committee, but there were a number of other kinks to be attended to after a fan reached the grounds.

Fans May Sit Down.

First move made by the officers of the Chicago District Gold association and the Olympia Fields board was the installation of six grandstands for the convenience of spectators who might like to rest after having followed their favorite threesome around. These will be located at the first tee and the ninth and eighteenth greens of both the No. 1 and No. 4 courses at Olympia Fields.

Another aid for the galleries was brought back from the national open in Denver by Maynard G. Fessenden, general chairman of the tournament committee. This consists of standards with triangular frames, bearing the names of each of the players in the leading threesome. If Sam Snead, Harry Cooper, and Dick Metz are playing in the same threesome their names will be placed in one side of one of the three sites and their playing progress kept up to date by cards opposite their names.

Caddies Take to Wheels.

In addition to these conveniences, ropes with especially designed iron clasps will be used to control the galleries in lieu of the bamboo poles generally in use. A scoreboard will be erected near the eighteenth green of the No. 1 course. This will be kept up to date, each three holes for each player, by a corps of caddies working on bicycles.

All officials connected with the tournament will gather at Olympia Fields tonight to make final preparations for the big show. The special qualifying round for amateurs with handicaps of five strokes or more will be held at eighteen holes at the club tomorrow. The fifty low scorers in this event will qualify for the tournament proper.

Music, Maestro, Please!

And the keynote for the night of Aug. 31 is to swing into action now. That's the night the College All-Americans battle the Washington Redskins, champions of professional football, in Soldiers' field. You'll want to be there, so don't get off the beat by forgetting to order your tickets.

You can blow your own horn if you mail in your check or money order today to All-Star game ticket manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago. Make them payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. The prices:

BABBISH BEATS M'CARTHY, 1 UP, IN WESTERN GOLF

Squares Match on 34th as Foe Falters.

South Bend, Ind., July 17.—[Special.]—Robert Babbish of Detroit, Mich., defeated Maurice McCarthy of Cincinnati, O., 1 up in thirty-six holes today to win the western golf championship in the thirty-ninth annual tournament.

It was a victory for youth and stamina over age and experience. The 23 year old Detroit lad, who plays from twenty-seven to thirty-six holes a day, had the stuff at the end to overcome pressure which had been on him for almost six hours of play. McCarthy, who is 31, showed no sign of weakening until they came to the 34th hole with McCarthy leading.

Babbish Squares Match.

Here McCarthy, who had been over the green twice in earlier rounds, pulled out a seven iron for his second shot after Babbish's approach had kicked slightly off the left of the green. He was short and he chipped three feet from the pin, rimming the cup with his putt. Babbish laid a beautiful chip to within inches of the cup for a par 4, squaring the match.

Then McCarthy faded his tee shot at the 200 yard seventeenth into the lake, losing a stroke. His next effort found a trap, and rather than shoot his fourth in the face of Babbish's tee shot, which was within two putt distance of the cup, he conceded the hole.

First Major Victory.

It was the first time Babbish had been ahead since the ninth hole this morning. And it looked for a moment that he would lose his advantage. He sliced into a clump of trees on No. 36, while McCarthy hit a powerful tee shot to the left edge of the fairway. Babbish played out safely to the No. 3 fairway at his right. McCarthy's wood shot sliced into the rough in front of the green. Then Babbish hit the shot of the day, a long iron to the edge of the green. McCarthy was equal to him, chipping up within five feet. Babbish's long putt rolled two feet past the cup. McCarthy's rimmed it for a five. Babbish then holed out—and began to accept congratulations for the only major victory of his career.

McCarthy led three times on the first nine, but Babbish rallied to square it each time and he took the eighth and ninth holes to lead McCarthy, two up.

They halved the next two, but Babbish conceded McCarthy an eagle three on the 12th which finally gave the latter a morning round of 69, two under par. Babbish took three from a trap at the 13th and three from the edge of the green at the 14th for two bogies to go one down. Babbish, however, dropped a 50 foot chip from the 16th fairway to square the match, and that is how the morning round ended.

Goes Two Down on 29th.

As the afternoon round opened Babbish dropped his chip shot and McCarthy holed a long putt. McCarthy was in the sand on four of the next five holes, but managed to win two, lose one, and halve two. The one he lost resulted from Babbish's 30 foot putt for a deuce on the short 22d hole. Babbish slipped on the 21st when his second was trapped and the 23d when he drove into the lake. Babbish holed a three footer for a birdie on the 26th and squared the match, but McCarthy sank a seven footer at the 27th to take the lead again. McCarthy was two under par with 34 and Babbish was one under for the out nine.

Babbish went two down at the 29th with a bogie five, but came back with a birdie four at the 30th and a par four at the 31st to square the match. McCarthy won the 32d, they halved the 33d and Babbish went on to victory.

Their cards:

MORNING ROUND.
Par—Out	444	354	444—36
McCarthy—Out	344	353	545—36
Babbish—Out	443	445	434—35
Par—In	345	443	435—35—71
McCarthy—In	343	443	435—33—69*
Babbish—In	346	553	335—37—72

*Babbish conceded 6th and 12th.

AFTERNOON ROUND.
McCarthy—Out	344	354	443—34
Babbish—Out	345	264	434—35

McCarthy one up.

McCarthy—In	345	543	545—38—72
Babbish—In	354	453	435—35—70

Babbish wins, 1 up.

A Great Pitcher in a Great Comeback

Dizzy Dean's Cub mates congratulate him after his four hit, 3 to 1 victory over the Bees yesterday. Left to right: Phil Cavarretta, Frank Demaree, Dean, Gabby Hartnett, and Coach Roy Johnson.

Dizzy misses one in the third inning. A moment later he got the Cubs' first hit. The Boston catcher is Ray Mueller.

ARLINGTON MUST DECIDE TODAY ON GOLD CUP RACE

Approval Expected; Prize Field Looms.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The bosses of the Arlington Park Jocky club will have to come to a definite decision today as to whether they will give away an extra $25,000 in prize money and thus assure the running of the Gold Cup Thursday, July 28.

When the race was added to the Arlington program the right was reserved to cancel it ten days before its running if the starting field was not worthy of competing for such a rich prize. At the same time today the field for the $30,000 added Classic stakes, to be run next Saturday, will take shape.

Seabiscuit Is Coming.

Last night there were three indications that the Arlington Gold Cup will be run. First, Seabiscuit is coming back from the Pacific coast to start in it. Second, sensational Stagehand, conqueror of Seabiscuit by a nose in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap, is at Arlington ready to run in it and also in the Classic. Third, Sam Riddle, owner of War Admiral, was reported by a railway express agency to have made inquiries within the last twenty-four hours about shipping War Admiral from Saratoga to Arlington Park in time for the Gold Cup engagement.

Other Candidates.

Other Gold Cup candidates at Arlington are Count Arthur, twice the winner of the Saratoga Gold Cup; Main Man, Kentucky's outstanding handicap performer; War Minstrel, which defeated Seabiscuit in the Stars and Stripes handicap, and his stable companion, Finance; Eagle Pass, Arabs Arrow, Mucho Gusto, and three or four others.

This array of talent alone should almost assure the running of the Gold Cup. Arlington officials will make the decision late this afternoon. As for the Classic, last night there were sixteen probable starters. They follow:

Celebron, Zale Meet Tonight at Marigold

Tony Zale, who got his start in the Gary section of the Golden Gloves tournament five years ago, and Billy Celebron, who learned the rudiments of the game in the 1933 Golden Gloves meet in Rockford, will return to action tonight in a ten round bout in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Neither has fought since last month. Zale scoring an eight round technical knockout over Jimmy Clark June 13 and Billy conquering Pete Petroskey in eight rounds June 6.

Zale will be making his debut under the co-management of Sam Pian and Art Winch, the team which piloted Barney Ross to the lightweight and welterweight championships.

Heading the preliminary card will be a six rounder between Tommy Howell, Danville, Ill., welterweight, and Georgie White.

Rudy Kay and King Kong will be main event principals in the heavyweight wrestling show in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, this evening. Fred Grubmier is paired with Rudy Strongberg, Stanley Pulaski with George Mansor, Jimmy Heffner with Jack [Bad Man] Brown, and Ralph Garibaldi with Fritz Schnable. . . . Al McCoy, highly rated heavyweight from Waterville, N. Y., arrived yesterday for his ten round headliner with Buddy Knox in Sparta stadium Wednesday.

Vaccination of Dog for Rabies Is Entirely Safe

BY BOB BECKER.

So much misinformation has been disseminated about rabies and the use of rabies vaccines, and those opposing the use of such vaccines have made such ridiculous claims about rabies itself and efforts to immunize dogs against the disease, that the United States Bureau of Animal Industry recently broadcast a comprehensive statement about these controversial subjects.

Resistance Only Relative.

In view of the fact that some lecturers who claim to be authorities even have stated that there is no such disease as rabies, the following announcement by Dr. H. W. Schoening of the Bureau of Animal Industry is of special interest to all dog owners. He stated:

"Experiments conducted by the Bureau of Animal Industry indicate that resistance to rabies can be increased in many dogs not already exposed by a single injection of rabies vaccine. This resistance is only relative, however. It may be strong in some animals but weak or lacking in others. Thus some animals can withstand actual exposure to the disease whereas others may not.

Dog Owners Should Coöperate.

"Prophylactic rabies vaccine is an entirely safe product as now manufactured under federal supervision. It contains no living virus and thus cannot cause or spread the disease. This point is emphasized by bureau officials despite contrary statements by persons opposed to preventive vaccination."

Dr. Schoening adds that the variable results obtained from vaccination and the differences of opinion about its use "should not interfere with full coöperation and support by dog owners and veterinarians of other standard measures for controling the disease."

By standard measure the government means licensing of dogs, impounding and destruction of stray dogs, and quarantine measures. And as Dr. Schoening points out, "a further aid is preventive vaccination."

SABIN WINS TWO MATCHES IN CLAY COURT TOURNEY

New York, July 17.—(AP)—Wayne Sabin of Hollywood, Cal., sixth player on the national tennis ranking list, scored two victories today to enter the fourth round of the eastern clay court tennis tournament at the Jackson Heights club. Sabin, seeded No. 1 and the only one of the picked players to play today, beat M. Winston Reese of New York, 6-1, 6-0, in the second round, then went on to eliminate Spencer Peets of Great Neck, N. Y., 6-3, 6-3.

PIRATES LOSE TO GIANTS, TIE, TO RETAIN LEAD

Hubbell Wins, 2 to 1, in Opening Game.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 17.—(AP)—With first place in the National league at stake, the Giants and the Pirates battled to a 7 to 7 tie in the second game of a double-header today after the New Yorkers won the first game, 2 to 1. The second game was called in the tenth because of Pennsylvania's Sunday curfew law.

After losing the first game to Carl Hubbell on Gus Mancuso's single with two out in the ninth, the Pirates struggled desperately to retain their slim league lead and they succeeded by earning the tie.

Dean and Lee Baffle Bees as Cubs Win Two

ing struggle, his mates were having only a limited amount of fun with Turner. He walked Hack in the first inning, but a double play followed. The first hit off him came in the third when the great Dizzy himself singled to left with two out. Jurges couldn't assist him. The fourth opened with Herman's single into left but, after Hack had sacrificed, Hartnett and Demaree produced easy infield taps.

Dean had two Bees out of the way in the fifth when Fletcher, taking advantage of a 3 and 2 pitch, sailed a safe drive into right. The ball rolled into the seats occupied by the Bees' relief men and before Demaree could extract it Fletcher was on third. Umpire Sears sent him back to second, but Umpire Klem intervened and convinced his fellow workers that there was no ground rule covering the point. So Fletcher returned to third. He scored on Mueller's drive to the wall in left center. Hack ended the inning by throwing out Warstler.

Cubs Come to Dean's Aid.

Dean was in arrears only for a few minutes. His mates put him back in a tie in their half of the fifth. Reynolds led off with a two-bagger to left and went to third on Collins' roller to Cuccinello. The Bees' infield drew in for a possible play at the plate, but Cavarretta singled past Cuccinello and Reynolds registered.

The seventh, which gave Dean his winning margin, opened with Demaree drilling a double into the left field corner. Reynolds flied out. Collins also hit a fly, but not one that could be caught. It drifted almost to the barrier in right and dropped for a triple, Demaree scoring. Collins sauntered home a moment later on Cavarretta's long fly to Moore.

The only two men to get to base on Dean in the last four innings were Cuccinello and Turner. The former singled to left with one out in the seventh. A fly ball and a grounder made up the remainder of the inning Turner singled to right after two were gone in the eighth.

SECOND GAME

MacFayden shut out the Cubs when they were in Boston last month but, by way of making sure it wouldn't happen again they nicked him for three runs in the second inning of the second engagement. It wasn't exactly a case of power, but hitting in the pinch. O'Dea led off with a pass and Demaree was grazed by a pitched ball. Reynolds then supplied the pinch blow after running the count down to 3 and 2. He tripled down the right field line, O'Dea and Demaree going home. Reynolds scored on Cavarretta's fly to Moore.

English Tries to Rally.

After the third the Cubs found the picking fairly tough for four innings. All they could collect off the bespectacled American league graduate was three hits. They did better, however, in the seventh. A pair of hits produced a run Cavarretta doubled to right with one out. Lee paid no attention as a third strike sailed past. Jurges singled to left to score Cavarretta.

Lee kept third base beyond reach of the Bees until the ninth. English opened the final attack with a single to right. Cavarretta came to Lee's aid with a diving catch of Cuccinello's low liner. West died on a foul to Hack, but Fletcher singled to right and English dashed to third. Pinch Batter Maggert bounced to Hack and it was all over.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

EDISON PLANS NEW FINANCING OF 73 MILLION

Step in Program to Refund Debt.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The Commonwealth Edison company is expected to undertake another 73 million dollar piece of its debt refunding program within the next few weeks. Chicago investment bankers who participated in the company's last refunding operation a month ago are already preparing for the next step, it was learned yesterday.

James Simpson, chairman of Commonwealth Edison.

The success of the June refunding has made the decision to follow with the next piece of refinancing a logical move on the part of the company. The 33 million dollars of new 3½ per cent first mortgage bonds, which were sold to the public at $102.25 last month, were readily taken and are selling now above the offering price. At last week's quotation of 105 to 105 they were selling on a 3.2 yield basis

The $39,083,195 of 3½ per cent convertible debentures offered to stockholders at par were selling at 109 to 109½ [per $100 par] last week. At that price the yield would be about 2.9 per cent.

Will Retire Old Bonds.

The proceeds of the June sale of bonds were used to retire nearly 30 million dollars of the old 5 per cent bonds, series A and B of that issue being thus retired. Proceeds of the sale of debentures were used to retire the series A debentures of the Commonwealth Subsidiary corporation and to increase the company's working capital.

The offering which the company is expected to register with the Securities and Exchange commission early next month is being drawn to include 33 millions of first mortgage bonds and 40 million dollars of debentures. Tentatively, also, the same interest rates are being considered and the same syndicate, headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., is expected to handle the financing.

Bonds to Be Redeemed.

Proceeds of the forthcoming offering would be used to retire 30 million dollars of outstanding series C and D bonds, each of which bear 4½ per cent interest, and to retire approximately 25 millions of Public Service Company of Northern Illinois 5 per cent bonds and certain other publicly held bonds of Edison subsidiaries.

Consummation of this new financing move would leave Edison with about 115 million dollars of its old first mortgage bonds still outstanding, about 85 millions of which are the series F 4 per cent bonds maturing in 1981 and 29½ millions of which are series H bonds maturing in 1965. It would also leave outstanding about 80 millions of the bonds of Public Service company, as well as large issues of Western United Gas and Electric company and other subsidiaries.

HOLC Defends Its Policies on Foreclosures

Washington, D. C., July 17.—[Special.]—A defense of the foreclosure policy of the Home Owners Loan corporation was made by John H. Fahey, chairman of the Federal Home Loan bank board, which supervises the HOLC, in a letter to Representative Barry [D., N. Y.], made public today.

Fahey stated that in the average HOLC foreclosure case the borrower has had free occupancy of his home for more than four years and has paid no taxes in five years. He said that "if the HOLC is to go any further than this in providing homes free of expense, a question of policy of far reaching importance is raised."

His letter dealt with five proposals made public recently by Barry.

The five proposals were: Reduction of interest rate on HOLC loans from 5 to 3½ per cent; a three year moratorium on the principal of loans; abolition of deficiency judgments; establishment of a quasi-judicial board of review to which mortgagors facing foreclosure might appeal, and permission of former owners to remain in their foreclosed homes on a rental basis.

RAIL UNION OFFICIALS MEET; PREPARE FOR A PARLEY ON WAGE CUT

General chairmen representing the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, meeting in the Stevens hotel, prepared yesterday to combat the joint demand of the nation's railroads for a 15 per cent wage reduction affecting 900,000 workers.

Officials of the brotherhood will begin voluntary negotiations with the management committee at the hotel this morning.

A. F. Whitney, president of the brotherhood, reiterated opposition to any wage reduction. He said lower wages would harm not only workers but industry, by reducing purchasing power.

Sixteen other railway unions represented by the Railway Labor Executives' association, will begin conferences with the carriers' committee Wednesday.

Whitney said his union would negotiate separately and would not be bound by any agreement made by the other groups.

H. A. Enochs, chief of personnel of the Pennsylvania railroad, heads the carriers' committee. George Harrison is chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' association.

SEC Is Baffled by Insurance Inquiry Task

Washington, D. C., July 17.—(AP)—Securities and Exchange commission aids are burning the midnight oil in preparation for a study of the 30 billion dollar insurance business and its relation to the capital market.

Experts at the commission say that this task—assigned to the commission as its part in inquiries led by the government's monopoly committee—will take the agency into a new field.

During its relatively short existence the commission has delved into the major fields of finance. It has become familiar with the technique of stock exchange procedure, dissected investment trusts and put vast utility slstems under the microscope. But up to the present it has not had occasion to analyze the insurance channels and tributaries which pour millions of dollars annually into the mainstream of the capital market.

Course Still to Be Determined.

Ask any high SEC official what course the commission will take in its study and he'll tell you he doesn't know. The first job, it is said, is to determine just what the problem is. To this end experts have been drafting and redrafting memoranda on procedure. Thus far no specific approach has been agreed upon, but the broad path which the study probably will take is beginning to become apparent.

As a starter the commission's monopoly division will study the capital market as a whole. It will analyze sources of capital, the machinery through which corporations get capital, and how that machinery affects corporate control.

Insurance companies are huge contributors of capital. For instance they own about 25 per cent of the nation's railroad bonds. They are not allowed to own common stock, hence control no voting power.

Will Study Directorships.

On the other hand, the commission will try to determine whether, through ownership of vast amounts of bonds, insurance companies have any influence over other corporations and, if so, what form it takes.

Another thing which the commission will survey will be the matter of directorships. For example, suppose insurance company "A" owns a large block of bonds of industrial company "B," and an official of the former is a director of the latter. The commission will try to determine the significance of this from all points of view.

Another phase of insurance-financial policy on which SEC will turn its diagnostic lens is illustrated by a small group of insurance companies which own an entire bond issue. This will involve placement of issues, both public and private.

No less important, in the eyes of commission experts, is the rôle insurance companies play as investors of other people's money. This aspect of the study will raise questions as to investment policies, types of securities, maturities, and various intricate financial ratios.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

by Frank Ridgway

Plant Late Vegetables

July 17, 1938.

GARDENERS have found this to be an unusually favorable season for vegetables at the Du Page county farm. For several weeks the early plantings in the farm's private garden have furnished an assortment of fresh vegetables for table use.

The weather has been favorable lately for planting seeds for the late crop to be harvested this fall. Throughout July the head gardener finds it a safe time to plant beans that are to be harvested and cooked green. A planting was made Wednesday. Two other plantings will be made before Aug. 1. The gardeners find they can expect the beans to come up within a short time if they are planted in July, providing the soil is watered immediately after planting. Artificial watering of newly planted seed is advisable especially at this time of the year because the ground usually is dry.

Plant Beans 4 Inches Deep.

In planting vegetable garden seeds on the farm in midsummer the practice is to cover the seeds with a fairly thick layer of finely pulverized soil. Beans, for example, are covered to a depth of four inches when they are planted in July. This insures germination, especially if the soil is watered immediately after planting.

The last planting of lima beans for the season was made last week in the private garden. The gardeners have learned from experience that the last planting of lima beans should be made not later than about the middle of July. It takes longer to produce a mature crop of limas than ordinary green beans which are used before they are fully mature. In case of limas it is necessary to wait until the beans form in the hull.

The late planting of broccoli has just been made. Broccoli planted late at the farm has been found to do best because the plants come up when cabbage worms are no longer active.

Endive was planted last week. The seeds were planted in hills one foot apart within rows 30 inches apart. This provides room for stirring the soil with a power cultivator. When the plants are full grown the inside of the plant is blanched by tying the outside leaves at the top. This work is done when the leaves are dry. Blanching endive also is done by pulling up the plants, root and all, immediately after the first light frosts and storing in a damp basement or cellar.

Blanched in Trenches.

Some gardeners blanch endive outdoors, as they do celery, by packing the plants close together in a trench about 16 inches wide and deep enough so the plant tops do not stick up above the surface. The trench is then covered with a plank and a layer of leaves about a foot thick. It is best to throw corn stalks or some other coarse material over the leaves. Endive stored in trenches in this way is ready for use usually about the last week in October, and it will keep in this region without additional protection until Christmas.

An assortment of other vegetables, including radishes, lettuce, beets, and carrots also have been planted lately.

Sweet corn is tasseling and shooting ears in the garden. Roasting ears are expected to be ready for use about the first of August. The gardeners are just beginning to pick the first of the early tomatoes of Chalk's Early Jewel variety. Early lima beans will be ready for use in about two weeks. Early celery is now being blanched and will be ready to eat in two weeks. The first of the early cabbage crop was ready for use last week.

Everyday Economics

What's in a Can?

For the benefit of the purchaser the federal food and drug laws provide that the label must show the weight of the contents. Also, for the convenience of the housewife, there are a number of standard size cans so that in calling up the grocer she may order by number instead of weight.

The most common sizes for cans and the quantities of the contents in both weight and cupfuls follow:

Number—	Weight.	Cupfuls.
8Z, tall or buffet	8 oz.	1
No. 1 eastern or picnic	11 oz.	1½
No. 1 tall	16 oz.	2
No. 2	20 oz.	2½
No. 2½	28 oz.	3½
No. 3	33 oz.	4
No. 10	6 lbs. 10 oz.	13

Grades also must be given on the label. These are "fancy" for the highest quality; "extra standard" or "choice" for the second grade, and "standard" for the third. The "fancy" fruits and vegetables are rated the pick of the crop. However, "choice" and "standard" may be preferable for certain uses, as in the case of berries for the making of pies.

20 More Join Million Dollar Income Class; 61 in New List

Washington, D. C., July 17.—[Special.]—Twenty more persons reported net income of $1,000,000 or more for the tax year 1936 than in the preceding year, the treasury reported today. The number of such returns increased from 41 in 1935 to 61 in 1936, the treasury said in an analysis of individual income tax returns filed during 1937.

The aggregate net income reported by individuals for 1936 was $19,240,109,644, an increase of $4,330,297,619, or 29 per cent, over 1935.

For each of the tax years 1935 and 1936 there was one return filed for net income between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. In 1936 there were four reporting from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 compared with seven in this class in the preceding year.

Fourteen of the 1936 returns showed net income between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 compared with two in the year before; nine of the 1936 returns reported net income between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 compared with eight the preceding year, and 33 of the 1936 returns showed net income from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 compared with 23 in 1935.

The 61 "millionaires" in 1936 reported total net income of $88,222,000 and paid taxes of $62,548,000, while the 41 "millionaires" in 1935 reported total net income of $64,510,000 and paid total income taxes of $36,203,000.

The income group which paid the highest amount of income taxes for 1936 and the preceding year were those reporting net income of from $100,000 to $150,000. This group paid $116,156,000 in taxes on $311,279,000 of net income for 1936 and $54,132,000 on $166,379,000 for 1935, according to the report.

Individual income tax returns for 1936 and 1935 by states included:

[In thousands of dollars.]

Illinois	1,593,035	1,171,834	102,036

Maytag.

Investors' Guide: I am interested in Maytag stock. Please send me information on the company.—J. H.

Answer: Principal business of the Maytag company, a $9,415,000 concern with headquarters at Newton, Ia., is the production of washing machines. An electric ironer to supplement the washing machine line also is manufactured.

The present Maytag company originated from a business established in 1893 to manufacture attachments of various types for agricultural machines. Production of washing machines was started in 1911 and all other lines were discontinued in 1922.

Maytag makes both electrically driven machines and machines that are driven by a small gasoline engine. The company also owns important patents, including the basic patent on "bottom agitation in washers," and manufacturing privileges are granted to other manufacturers under licensing arrangements.

The Maytag plant at Newton consists of 12 main buildings having 567,596 feet of floor space. Sales branches are maintained in Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Minneapolis and Winnipeg. Warehouses are located in 15 other cities.

Sales were $2,525,136 and net profit $88,329, or 11 cents a $3 preferred share, in the quarter ended March 1. This compared with sales of $4,276,850 and profit of $616,204, equal to $1.96 a $3 preferred share or 21 cents a common share, in the corresponding 1937 period. The record of earnings in recent years follows:

	Sales.	Net inc.	Earn. per Com. shr.
1937	$16,984,966	$2,292,706	$0.75
1936	16,748,123	2,816,900	1.03
1935	16,350,691	2,581,690	0.85
1934	14,716,706	1,960,836	0.46
1933	5,143,063	100,733	*1.70

*On first preferred; deficit on common after allowance for preferred dividend was $1.22.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 38,000 shares of $6 cumulative no par first preferred, 285,000 shares of $3 cumulative no par preferred, and 1,617,923 shares of no par common. The majority of the common is owned by the Maytag family. No dividends have been paid on the common so far this year. Fifty cents was disbursed in 1937.

Current assets were $6,370,451 and current liabilities were $918,095 at the end of 1937.

Investors' Guide: Are Canada 5s of 1952 callable?—J. R.

Answer: The Canadian government has the privilege of calling the 5s of 1952 as a whole after May 1, 1942, on 60 days' notice at par and accrued interest.

STEEL DEMAND REACTS FEEBLY TO PRICE CUTS

Demand for steel has made but a feeble response to recent price reductions, the magazine Steel said yesterday in its weekly review. The continued low production rates of the leading steel consuming industries have been a greater restrictive factor than lower prices could offset immediately, the publication asserted

Ingot production last week was estimated by the trade journal at 32 per cent, a rise of 8 points over the preceding holiday week. Almost all districts participated in the rise.

"A buoyant scrap market continues to furnish a bullish note," Steel added. The steel making scrap composite advanced 58 cents last week to $13.08, the highest since the final week of March."

Stands of Soldiers' field filled with more than 70,000 spectators yesterday as police and firemen participating in the Police and Fire Thrill show massed at end of their grand parade. Around the track are pieces assembled for the historical display of fire apparatus, and in the center of the field stand the expert teams that later amazed the crowd with their daring exhibitions of skill and of the latest methods of protecting the city against flames and crime.

Detectives springing into action from their bureau car at the climax of the exciting bandit chase in Soldiers' field show. After cornering the quarry in fire tower, police cars closed in and "got their men" in a flurry of bullets and tear gas bombs.

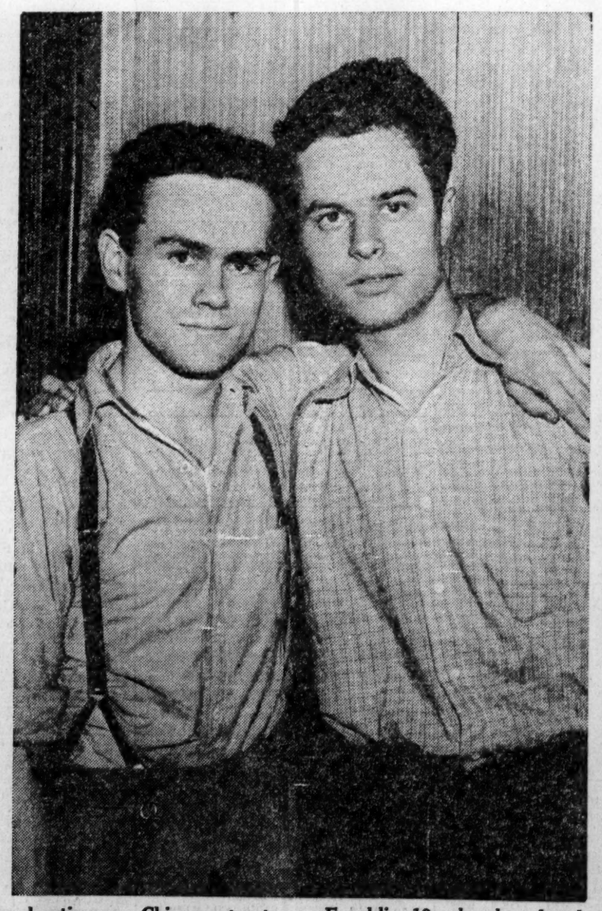
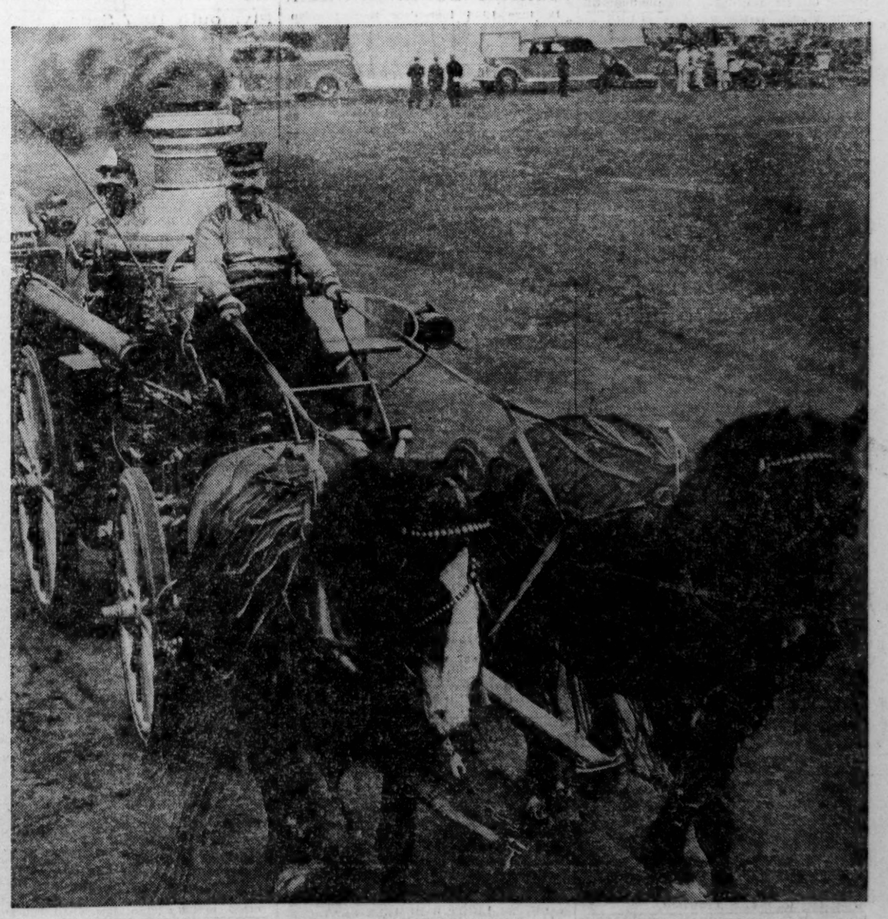
Water fight with high pressure hose played by four fire department teams at Thrill show. Dragging the heavy lines, the dripping players drove the balls back and forth on supporting wires while the spectators applauded.





These five innocents were involved in two shootings on Chicago streets last night. Left to right: Jacqueline O'Brien, 20 years old, whose husband was shot down at Wellington avenue and Halsted street in gangland style, holding her daughter, Patricia, 17 months old; William Cassidy, 19, and James Franklin, 19, who chased and captured a suspect in another shooting on Wilson avenue near Sheridan road after Christina Lund (extreme right), age 11, pointed the man out to them as one involved in the shooting of a young rug salesman. The suspect denied the shooting. (Story on Page 1.)
